Central School Vacated

One hundred and forty - four erstwhile Central school pupils were today in classes at new classrooms at Encinal school, having been moved out of their former plant early Tuesday, less than 12 hours after school district trustees agreed to close Menlo Park's oldest operating school.

The move was made "without a hitch", according to school district Superintendent Mel Homfeld. It followed decision Monday night by Menlo Park Elementary School district trustees that they could no longer allow themselves to be held liable for accidents in the non-earthquake-proof building.

According to sources at the school, there were few telephone calls Tuesday or yesterday morning indicating interest of parents.

Trustees decided to close the building to classes after Homfeld, at the regular Monday night meeting of the trustees, read an opinion from District Attorney Keith Sorenson to the effect that they could be held liable for injuries to students.

Sorenson's opinion was based on correspondence dating as far back as June of 1950, stating that the building was inadequate.

Still to be considered are:

1. Whether or not the school may be brought up to standard. The district agreed to let citizens seek the voluntary aid of an architect or structural engineer to confir mthe fact that the building does not meet requirements of the "earthquake code"; if such an individual cannot be found, they will have to hire one.

2. Whether or not the school district can realize any profit from sale of the 7½-acre school site—the last remaining large parcel of unsubdivided land in downtown Menlo Park. The school district currently owes the state the major portion of a $780,000 aid loan borrowed in 1951; it may be that the state would demand any profit obtained from the property.

REMAIN IN USE

Two rooms in Fremont school, which the school district trustees had contemplated rebuilding before a $300,000 bond issue was defeated by district voters last month, will remain occupied—at

Jaycees Invite Area Youngsters To Egg Search

Chairman Earle Jones of the seasonal activities committee of the Menlo-Atherton Junior Chamber of Commerce indicated last night that approximately 500 area youngsters are expected to attend the Easter egg hunt on Sunday, April 11.

The hunt will be held at the Little League ball park, at the corner of Middlefield road and Ravenswood avenue, at 2 p.m. All Menlo Park children from the ages of 4 through 12 are invited to attend. There will be prizes for the winners and refreshments for all participants. The club hopes to make this an annual affair.

The Girl Scouts, under the direction of Mrs. James Aced, have volunteered to color the Easter eggs, and Cook's Seafood Restaurant has offered its facilities to the club for the preparation of the eggs.

Menlo Park merchants have been overly generous in donating prizes for the event, Jones said, and at this time prizes have been donated by the following establishments: Milt's food mart, Menlo Camera shop, Shreve and Pryce, New Menlo laundry, Peg Doyle, Gindele's pet shop, Western Auto, Children's bootery, Oxford delicatessen, Menlo shirt laundry, Stagnero's fish and poultry, Lux cleaners, Gracelon's, Hogan's shoes, Van de Sande, Menlo Park launderette, the Hostess House, Menlo florist, American Trust company, Menlo Liquor store, Shell Oil station, and an individual contribution by Art Magnuson.

Although arrangements are not definite at this time, it is expected that the Easter bunny will arrive by helicopter to start the event.

HALF MOON BAY DONS TO PRESENT SHOW IN MENLO PARK SATURDAY

TO PARADE HERE SATURDAY—The world famous Spanish-town Dons, precision drill team from Half Moon Bay, is shown in marching order as it will appear at Nealon park at 4 p.m. Saturday. The Dons, national champions in precision marching, will appear here in behalf of the San Mateo county chapter of the American Cancer society, which is conducting its annual drive for funds this month. The precision marchers, who receive all commands in Spanish, are led by Manual Sousa

Research Panel Sees School Tax Of $1.48 per $100

Menlo Park Elementary School District will be able to maintain the quality of its education on present levels, if it levies a tax rate of $1.48 per $100 assessed valuation for the coming school year.

This conclusion was drawn this week by the research subcommittee of the Citizens' committee for the Menlo Park schools.

At the same time, the subcommittee implied its support of the $1.75 per $100 assessed valuation measure to be placed on the May 21 school district ballot, stating that the 90 cent statutory ceiling to which the district will revert for the coming year, unless voter support for the higher ceiling is forthcoming, is "completely unrealistic."

The research subcommittee's report was submitted to the committee as a whole last night, at a meeting held at the yellow room, Menlo Park civic center.

Most important factor in determining the district's financial needs are salaries, which make up 85 per cent of the district's total budget, says the report.

If present class size is to be retained and if the school district is to continue to pay the prevailing wage scale of teachers in this area, it will be necessary to have a tax rate much higher than that allowed under the 90 cent limit.

In its report, the research committee cites several "outside sources," in support of figures that indicate the proposed $1.75 ceiling "gives room for growth and maximum efficiency" in spite of the fact that school population is increasing faster than the tax base is growing.

It adds that a projection of future enrollment, made by the research group, indicates a future levelling off, with increases during the next five years but at a progressively slower rate.

Members of the research group included C. M. Himel, H. M. Conley, J. Russell Kent, Arthur Sargent, Mrs. Edwin Gross, Mrs. Leonard Evans and George Cleese Jr.

Planners Firm On Fence Heights

A request from the city council to the planning commission to review the fence provisions of Ordinance No. 228 pertaining to the height of fences on rear portions of lots and around swimming pools and the like was resubmitted as a proposal with the recommendation that it be adopted as is.

A result of the planners' informal study meeting on the subject was their feeling that the maximum 6 foot rear fence and 4 foot front fence was adequate.

Changes in the city's fence ordinance came under discussion following a controversy, before the city council concerning an eight foot fence, last year.

Still Time to File

All Out School District Fight Looms As Two Seek Every Post on Board

Two complete slates of candidates for the Menlo Park Elementary School District board of trustees, election for three members of which will be held May 21, came into being this week with the filing of candidacies of two more of the "additional" posts being created when the agency becomes a five-man board.

The two new filings were submitted by J. C. Davenport, building contractor who resides at 57 Moulton drive, Atherton and John R. Breeden of 315 Hermosa way, manager of the Menlo Park branch of the American Trust company.

There is still time for other candidates to file. Deadline for doing so is midnight, April 21.

Late last week, in an earlier re-election development, Rear Admiral C. Julian Wheeler (USN, ret.) announced his candidacy in opposition to incumbent Ben Holland. His statement of candidacy apears elsewhere in this issue.

OPPOSITION

Both Davenport and candidate James Black, who filed earlier, have indicated their support of the present curriculum; Candidates Edward R. Estberg, Breeden and Wheeler have been associated with a group which, three weeks ago called for a $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation ceiling as opposed to the $1.75 measure which was placed on the ballot at the insistence of 2100 school district voters who signed petitions calling for that action.

All candidates have subsequently indicated, however, that they would support the ceiling of $1.75, all feeling that the 90 cent statutory limit is inadequate to provide proper education for the district.

It has been indicated by campaign statements that the two slates of candidates held divergent opinions on other phases of school district business, also.

Wheeler in his statement today calls for a "return to teaching" the fundamental principles upon which our country is founded; Estberg has called for closer supervision of the superintendent of school's office by the board of trustees.

Thomas Maloney, Born Here 81 Years Ago, Dies

Requiem mass was offered yesterday for the repose of the soul of Thomas Paul Maloney, native of Menlo Park, who died at his final home, 718 Menlo avenue, Sunday ae the age of 81.

Maloney had been a San Francisco policeman for 30 years prior to retiring to his native town about 10 years ago. He was the son of Patrick J. Maloney, one of five brothers who, in the 1860's, moved to the Menlo Park area and were largely instrumental in the settling of this area and the establishment of the community here.

The elder Maloney's properties at one time covered most of what is now Menlo Park west of University drive. He had 11 children and of these, only Miss Mary Maloney, of Palo Alto survives.

Thomas Maloney was christed at Church of the Nativity, which was completed during the year of his birth, 1873.

He moved from Menlo Park in the early 1900's to join the San Francisco police department.

Maloney's death was preceded, about 10 days ago, by that of his son, Jack Maloney of San Francisco.

The husband of Amelia (Millie) Maloney of this city, he is also survived by sons George E. Maloney, a San Francisco attorney, and Raymond P. Maloney, San Mateo businessman.

Sisters Catherine Clothier, Nora A. Morey and Margaret Cullen and brothers, Cornelius, William, Frank and Jack Maloney all preceded him in death.

Maloney is also survived by a stepdaughter, Mrs. Emma L. Weibert of San Francisco; stepson, Emerson G. Darling of Atherton, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted from the Johnston and Tinney Colonial chapel here.

Johnson, Johnson Break Ground For Plant Today

At 10 a. m. today, ground was to be broken for the multimillion dollar western headquarters of Johnson and Johnson pharmaceutical company, on the firm's 20-acre land bounded by Marsh road, Bayshore highway and the SP Dumbarton cutoff in Bohannon Industrial park.

Announcing the ceremonies were officers of the firm. The program was not announced, but it was expected to be of an informal nature. Mayor Michael L. Belangie of Menlo Park has been invited to attend, although the new plant, first unit of which will cover about two acres, is situated outside the city limits.

Announcement of the groundbreaking indicates that the firm's plans are going ahead on schedule. When purchase of the land was announced early this year, the pharmaceutical firm also announced that it planned to start construction in the month of April.

Since that time, the land has been annexed to the Menlo Park Fire District, although company officials have indicated they do not wish to have their property joined to any city at this time.

It is understood that Redwood City, which bounds the site on the north, has been bidding for annexation of the land.

Informal Program Scheduled

Flag Raising to Keynote Dedication Of Red Cross Chapter House Sunday

Final plans for the dedication of the Sequoia chapter, American Red Cross' new headquarters at 3540 Middlefield road, North Fair Oaks, were being formulated this week.

The building will be dedicated Sunday.

Ray Weymouth, chapter chairman, announced this week that the rites are to commence at 2:30 p.m.; the program will be informal.

Featured will be donation of a flag, and flag raising, by representatives of the four American Legion posts within the chapter area; the flagstaff from which the flag will fly was donated by Mrs. Ahna Mautz of 719 Valparaiso avenue, Menlo Park.

Also to be a part of the program will be a talk by a representative of the national Red Cross organization, Weymouth said.

Featured speaker will be Superior Court Judge Louis B. Dematteis, a member of the chapter board.

Following this, those attending the rites will be invited to tour the new chapter headquarters building.

Chapter headquarters were finished well ahead of schedule, officers pointed out, since plans originally called for completion of the building by May 1.

Sequoia chapter's lease on its previous headquarters, 1794 Broadway, Redwood City, expired March 1.

Weymouth pointed out that Sequoia chapter's fund drive quota has not been raised as a result of

Menlo Park Leads in Drive

Menlo Park this week emerged as leading all other areas of the Sequoia chapter, American Red Cross region, having collected more than 96 per cent of its $13,300 quota for the current fund drive.

A total of $12,789.82 has been collected from this city. The chapter as a whole has achieved a little over 80 per cent of the $51,500 needed to finance operations for the coming year; the drive for funds was extended last week when it became apparent that the quota would not be met.

Elsewhere in south county, Woodside reported about 66 per cent of its quota collected. $4012.40 has been taken in; the quota is $6000. East Palo Alto had about 52 per cent of its quota accounted for, with $770.80 collected there.

Atherton, with a quota of $13,700, reported collections amounting to $10,898 as of yesterday.

FACTS ABOUT CANDIDATES ON INSIDE PAGES

As municipal election time drew near in Menlo Park and Atherton this week, all candidates joined in urging every voter to go to the polls next Tuesday.

For sketches and campaign statements of Menlo Park city council candidates, turn to Page 2. For Atherton candidates' statistics, turn to Page 3.

PARK BONDS

As date for the April 13 municipal election drew near, Councilman Charles P. Burgess this week devotes his column, "Your City's Business" on page 4, to the $270,000 recreation bond issue being sponsored by the city.

Though admitting that this does not appear to be a favorable time for asking public approval of bond issues, Councilman Burgess explains, that land, too, is getting harder to get.

Should the bond issue fail to pass, he warns, it may be impossible to obtain park sites in Belle Haven or North Palo Alto at a future date.

For details, see Burgess column.

Council Contest Heads for Finale

With campaigning entering its final week, Menlo Park's six city council candidates this week continued to contact voters, asking for favorable ballots in next Tuesday's election.

The campaign has been a quiet one for all concerned. No major issues have been raised, either by the three incumbents or the three challenging candidates; all joined yesterday in urging all residents to get out and vote their choice, however, as the most important building block in the foundation of democracy.

Incumbent candidates were running "on the record," maintaining that Menlo Park's present administration has demonstrated its abilities and asking the voters to retain them so that it might continue intact.

Challengers mainly took the line that the people are entitled to a choice of candidates and that an uncontested election is no election at all.

Challenging candidate V. W. Babowal of 1025 Wallea drive, added, however, that he had observed, in recent newspaper advertising, that many of those listed as supporting incumbents didn't reside in Menlo Park.

He added that his campaign is progressing with a series of public meetings, in which he is attempting to contact as many prospective voters as possible in the few remaining days.

ACTIVITY

Campaign committee workers for Perry Edward West have also been active. Early this week, they announced the completion of mailing of more than 6000 pieces of literature to registered voters throughout the city.

More public meetings, to be completed with a reception Sunday, are scheduled as the windup of his campaign nears.

Walter Miller, the third challenging candidate, said that his campaign is progressing as rapidly as possible. He too was attending meetings in all parts of the city, becoming acquainted with constituents.

Meanwhile, the incumbent candidates' campaigns were proceeding, both individually and collectively.

A citizens' committee for their retention has been active in mailing literature to householders in all parts of the city.

The three are not running as a slate, however, and continued making individual contacts throughout the city.

Councilman George Ford said that he would probably appear before city service clubs and other groups in the final days of the campaign.

Councilman and former mayor Charles P. Burgess was forced to take a break in his round of con-

By Margin of 20 Votes

Wallace E. Ott Squeezes Out Victory In Balloting for Fire Commission

Wallace E. Ott, 1120 Hillview drive, was this week elected to the Menlo Park Fire District board of commissioners in an election which literally had ballot-counters on the edge of their chairs almost until the last ballot was tallied.

In being elected, Ott edged his opponent for the post, Craig Owens, by a scant 20 vote margin out of a total of 1157 votes counted. Still to be figured in the tally are five absentee ballots, which will be opened when fire district commissioners meet tonight to canvass votes.

In spite of the fact that he had announced, late last week, that he was no longer a candidate, Jack Brickell of 1325 Crane street polled nearly half as many votes as did the two who stayed in the race.

Complete, unofficial returns from the polling places late Monday showed:

Ott	484
Owens	464
Brickell	209

Less than five per cent of the Menlo Park Fire District 's registered voters cast ballots, in spite of heavy advance publicity.

A total of 10 ballots were rejected by election officials, because of careless marking.

In a statement Tuesday, Ott, the winning candidate who will succeed retiring Commissioner J. T. Hanna, thanked his campaign supporters and the voters who indicated their confidence in him as a member of the fire district's three-man governing board.

"Though I am deeply grateful," he added, "I am concerned over the fact that there were so few voters.

URGES VOTERS

"People should be more cognizant of the importance of their franchise; more people should take it upon themselves to vote, giving a true expression of the will of the people.

Both Brickell and Owens, though they did not win, showed surprising strength in some precincts.

Brickell carried the North Fair Oaks precinct, polling 37 votes while Ott got 7 and Owens got 17. Owens, meanwhile carried West Menlo Park and University Heights, polling 124 votes while Ott got 76 and Brickell got 30.

By precincts, the voting went:

Precinct (at fire station)	Brickell	Ott	Owens	Total Cast
1	16	93	77	186
2	45	65	60	172
3	36	43	34	115
4	30	76	124	234

Linfield Zone May Get New Office

Frank Graf, vice president and western manager of A. C. Neilsen company, world's largest marketing analysis firm, was in Chicago today reporting to the firm's board of directors on progress of steps toward obtaining a site in Linfield Oaks.

Another obstacle to the construction of a proposed $100,000 building here, was removed yesterday, with the withdrawal of a protest from Sunset publishing company, property adjoining which the research firm plans to purchase, against a requested variance in lot size.

Because of the peculiar course of San Francisquito creek, the marketing firm has asked for a variance to allow them to purchase and build on a 1.25-acre parcel, rather than forcing them to buy the two-acre minimum lot as other businesses in the area. Action on the variance will come up at the planners' April 19 informal meeting.

The magazine publishing firm had stated its "reluctant protest," originally, on the grounds that the two-acre minimum should be retained for all parts of the subdivision.

However, Business Manager Mel Lane said yesterday, a careful study of the ground, and alternative plans for increasing size of the building site, indicated that the 1.25-acre plot would be adequate.

Graf said the company was planning to move to Menlo Park because the Linfield Oaks site proved "outstanding," when compared with other locations studied in the bay area. He said he had seen some 200 pieces of property which his firm had considered before studying Linfield Oaks.

If and when constructed here, the Nielson company building would mean an establishment of a permanent headquarters comparable to branches in New York and Chicago.

Size of the projected staff was not announced.

CANDIDATES SPEAK TONIGHT

A final invitation to Menlo Park voters, urging them to come and hear all six candidates for the Menlo Park city council tonight, was issued this week by officers of the Civic Interest League.

The candidates will all review their platform tonight at 8 p.m. at the council chambers, Menlo Park civic center.

Looks Like He'll Have Time Now For 'The Book'

Alfred Neill, 31, of San Francisco, was lodged in San Mateo county jail this week, probably leafing through the pages of "the book."

Neill got "the book" here late Monday, when he was apprehended after an 85-mile-per-hour chase through Redwood City and Atherton on El Camino Real.

The San Francisco man, who is apparently also awaiting trial on charges of burglary in San Francisco, faces charges of driving with a revoked license, reckless driving, failure to heed a red light and siren, and speeding.

Police say he has several prior convictions for serious driving charges.

He was stopped at Oak Grove avenue at 11 p.m. Monday, after patrol cars succeeded in forcing his auto to the curb.

Evidently:

IT'S STILL WILD

The days of the "Old West" are not yet past, for Menlo Park. Nope.

For when Harry Schechter, operator of Harry's juvenile shop at 825 El Camino Real, opened his front door last Thursday morning, he found what looked like a bullet hole through the plate glass window at the front of his store.

Police investigated, but failed to find the projectile—or whatever it was—that carved the small, neat opening in the glass.

They couldn't find any reports of gunshot noises on El Camino Real, either.

But from the looks of things, they said, store fronts still get "shot up" in the "Wild West" of Menlo Park.

All for 80 Minutes a Week

Elective Subject Program Raises 'Fundamental Education' Issues in Elementary Schools Here

A recommendation that Menlo Park School District seventh and eighth grade pupils be allowed to take elective courses for 80 minutes a week Monday night brought District Superintendent Mel Homfeld into face to face opposition to educational fundamentalists in the district.

Homfeld recommended the electives program at the regular monthly meeting of the school district trustees, stating that it would cost no more money than the district's present program, save for minor costs for instructional materials. It would result in better utilization of teachers' talents and students' time, Homfeld said.

Leading the opposition from the meeting's audience was Nat Floyd, 1810 White Oak drive. Floyd said he was unhappy with the proposal because, he said, although both Homfeld and Dr. Glen Barnett, University of California educator, recommended electives, they indicated they do not favor additional homework.

Homfeld countered that the suggested elective periods would broaden, not replace, the fundamental program of the district. He pointed out that such courses are in use in other elementary school districts.

Most teachers, he pointed out, have talents other than those used in the teaching of a single class its annual course of study.

As for the children, he pointed out that, at the present time, they must either attend study hall sessions for the two periods a week, or join school choruses.

The class periods involved are the last in the day and are of comparatively little value compared to hours earlier in the day, Homfeld said.

Under the recommendation, Homfeld pointed out, teachers who have talent and interest in such subjects as sewing, photography, creative writing and other specialties could pass their lore on to the children in the smaller groups that would result under the elective system.

He asked that the trustees give him an answer as to whether or not the program should be adopted at an early date, because it will influence the hiring of teachers whether the district operates on a 90 cent tax rate or a higher one.

District Curriculum Consultant Paul R. Stouffer stated that such programs were in use in other schools in this area.

"This represents the first inroad into the fundamental nature of the education we are giving our children," Floyd charged.

He stated that, for example, the district's language arts program needed strengthening, "before we go drifting off into progams of questionable value."

Asked for information by Homfeld, Mrs. Ina Porter, principal at Encinal school, stated that language arts — spelling, reading and writing — already consume about two hours of class time a day, or 10 hours a week.

Floyd questioned the wisdom of "wasting 20 per cent as much time on these things" as is given to the whole language program and observed that, in his view, "very few people have more than one predominant talent" and argued, on this basis, that teachers exceptionally well qualified to teach electives might be worse as classroom instructors.

Stouffer, meanwhile, pointed out that even with the elective program some students could be advised that they should take "study hall' rather than participate in electives.

Mrs. Phyllis Campbell observed that "we are educating for individuality to bring out more talents," and observed that this brought forward "a better educated individual."

Mrs. Ray Peters, from the audience, observed that she recalls having had elementary sewing and other such subjects in the seventh and eighth grades, and that there was little "revolutionary" about it.

Board of trustees chairman Ben Holland, after hearing Mrs. Campbell's opinion, asked Trustees Robin Hood how he felt about the elective program.

"I feel awful," said Hood.

The board agreed to take the matter under study.

GEORGE FORD

Incumbents Vow Continuation of Good City Government

Chas. P. Burgess

Born 1905 in Birmingham, Alabama. Resident of California for 35 years, of Peninsula 31 years and of Menlo Park 21 years.

Married, one daughter.

Partner in firm of Kaiser and company, San Francisco, specialing in municipal bonds. Past president Security Analysts of San Francisco, Peninsula division of League of California Cities and Sequoia High School District board of trustees. Currently state vice president League of California Cities and member of board of governors, bay area council.

Elected to Menlo Park city council in 1942, and re-elected in 1946 and 1950. Served as mayor 1945-1953.

STATEMENT OF CANDIDATE

It has been my privilege and pleasure to serve the people of Menlo Park on the council for the past 12 years.

The principles and policies I have followed are well known to those who have followed the progress of our city government, and these I pledge to continue.

The policies of the council over the past decade of rapid expansion have been directed principally to maintaining Menlo Park's characteristics as a desirable place to live and raise a family. This objective has been achieved by careful planning and zoning.

The employing of professional planners in the past two years to take a fresh look at our community, with many resultant improvements in our master plan, was motivated by this consideration.

Other major policies have been to improve our tax base, and make Menlo Park an even better place to shop and work.

An aggressive annexation program from 1945 through 1948 was successful in building our tax base.

The development of the Santa Cruz avenue shopping district with large free parking plazas was in accordance with these policies.

Our nationally famous garden-type office building zone in Linfield Oaks has also developed the tax base, been compatible with a residential city, and provided desirable employment at home.

I am in hearty accord with the council's objective of securing title to Stanford Village from the federal government and aggressively seeking substantial business concerns to build administrative offices there.

Menlo Park's enviable reputation for civic progress has been achieved through constant alertness to new developments in planning, in administration and in private business. I shall be on the lookout for such new ideas as we may adopt to our advaneage, particularly if they promise to assist the continued downtrend of the city tax rate.

Decisions of the city council have been made only after weighing carefully the statements of all persons who wish to speak on the matter under consideration. This policy I fully endorse.

It is my pledge to continue to base my decisions on what I believe after study to constitute the greatest good for the greatest number of citizens of Menlo Park.

Arthur Cobbledick

Arthur Cobbledick, incumbent canidate for the Menlo Park city council, has spent his career in a sutdy of planning in all its phases, with emphasis on public projects.

He studied architectural engineering at Iowa State college, and holds a degree in lanscape architecture from the University of California.

He has worked with the national park service, the public housing authority and the San Mateo county planning commission. He has also served as a member of the board of directors of the Association of Landscape Architects.

Though he is now engaged in private practice, some of Cobbledick's best known works are public developments in this area, including the landscaping of Menlo-Atherton high school and the grounds around the new Palo Alao city hall.

A resident of the Peninsula for the past eight years, he resides at 1038 Oakland avenue with his wife and two children. He has been active in all phases of community activities such as service clubs, youth activities and church work.

He first entered city government when appointed to the city planning commission in 1950; later he was appointed to fill a vacancy on the Menlo Park city council, on which he has served for the past two years.

STATEMENT OF CANDIDATE

My interest in civic affairs stems from long interest in planning in all its phases and while much has been accomplished, the job of planning for the future growth and development of Menlo Park is far from complete.

During the past two years the council has been most active in fostering plans for a better community, while successfully avoiding tax increases on the municipal level.

Since the most serious problems facing Menlo Park are common to adjoining municipalities, the county and the state, the city administration should continue to look beyond its borders for their satisfactory solution and seek increasing cooperation with such neighbors as Stanford university, Palo Alto, Atherton and Redwood City.

Tormey Names M. P. Sponsors

Three Menlo Park residents were last week named as sponsors of James B. Tormey, county superintendent of schools, who announced that he would be a candidate to succeed himself in the forthcoming June election.

Tormey, in announcing his candidacy, reported that he had kept faith with the voters in fulfilling his platform of 1950 and, since he is running unopposed, asked for a complimentary vote of the people.

Menlo Park sponsors on Tormey's campaign committee include L. L. Johnston, Mrs. Mona Christensen and Joseph L. Connolly.

George S. Ford

George Ford has been a member of the city council for the past five years. Originally appointed, he was elected to succeed himself in 1950. He is currently vice mayor on the city council.

Ford resides with his wife and family at 1319 Edgewood lane.

STATEMENT OF CANDIDATE

If elected I will work to continue the good government which Menlo Park has had in the past. I shall try to improve communication between the council and the citizens to the end that the people are informed on all items and issues affecting their government.

I believe the progress of the city speaks for itself as to the kind of forward planning being done by their council.

For example, in the 1953 annual report an 11-point program was enumerated—of the 11, 10 are either completed successfully or are in advanced study stages preliminary to releasing them to the citizens for their reaction.

On only one point am I unable to report actual progress and that is securing more adequate bus service which is strictly an economic problem of the Transit owners. All this has been done during a period of rising costs, but with an annual reduction of taxes.

All of this is progress of a kind wanted by the people of Menlo Park—more parking, better recreational facilities and activities, an alert traffic safety program, and an informed citizenry.

If reelected I pledge myself to work for the maximum economy and efficiency in the operation of all municipal services, to work for the broadening of our tax base, and to continue to work for the confidence and the respect of the people in its city government.

Athertonian Aids Brown Campaign

Attorney General Edmund G. (Pat) Brown this week announced the appointment of William J. Mahaney, prominent Atherton attorney, to head Brown's re-election campaign in San Mateo county.

As San Mateo county chairman, Mahaney will organize committees supporting Brown in all areas of the county.

Mahaney, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh school of law, has been a California attorney since 1937. He formerly served with the Securities and Exchange commission in Washington and San Francisco. He is a professor of taxation at the Hastings college of law in San Francisco.

Mahaney is married and has four children. His daughters, Mary and Patricia, are nationally-known swimming champions. Mahaney is a member of the Commonwealth club, Menlo Circus club, Stanford golf club and California golf club.

Werder Named to Kuchel Campaign

Appointment of William M. Werder of Redwood City as chairman of the San Mateo county campaign committee for United States Senator Thomas H. Kuchel was announced in San Francisco by Thomas J. Mellon, northern California campaign chairman.

Werder, supervisor for San Mateo county, served as city councilman for Redwood City from 1940 to 1946 except for a period during World War II when he was on active duty with the United States Navy.

From 1948 to 1950 he served as mayor of Redwood City.

Challenging Candidates Explain Reasons for Entering Race

V. W. Babowal

Challenging candidate V. Babowal, vice president and manager of a wholesale plumbing supply firm, has lived in this area for the past five years.

A native of Hartford, Conn., he attended evening classes at St. John's university, Brooklyn, to earn his BA degree, being graduated from that university in 1939.

He is married, and resides with his wife and two children at 1025 Wallea drive.

Babowal is a member of Palo Alto lodge 1471, BPOE; a member of the Hillview school P-TA; assistant Cubmaster of Cub Scout Pack 4; a suggested member of the executive committee of the citizen's school committee for the Menlo Park Elementary School District; he is the president of the Menlo Park Civic Interest League.

He is the only Menlo Park city council candidate to have received, thus far the endorsement of the AF of L Labor League for Political Education, although he has never been a union member.

1. A new era requires a new look—new action!
2. Actions by the Council should be for the good of the people and reflect their wishes.
3. Government by the people through elected representatives.
4. All expenditures should be scrutinized to assure the public of full value for all monies spent.
5. If we do have assessment districts, the assessments should be on a fair basis.
6. A civic minded individual who is a father, home owner, tax payer, businessman—not a politician.

STATEMENT OF CANDIDATE

People want to be sure that for every dollar spent, full value is received. All expenditures should be closely examined so as to assure the public that this is being done.

Human nature is such so that one tends to do the same things the same way over and over again.

The present council has become self-perpetuating. Of the present council only one member was originally elected—four were originally appointed. Subsequently, some have used the forum of public office to be elected.

The city council's handling of the master plan, sign ordinance, storm drainage systems and other actions indicates they have lost touch with the desires and wishes of the people. Such actions rip Menlo Park apart between elections. Vast segments of people are put to unnecessary expense and trouble to protect their interests.

Government should be by the people. It is the opinion of some that there is a line of demarcation between the city council and the people of Menlo Park.

Babowal states he has no personal reason for seeking office.

A new viewpoint will increase efficiency. New blood will make the council more responsive to public opinion.

An ability to analyze and understand figures, plus a record that proves that he is not a "Yes" man will enable him to scrutinize all expenditures for the best interest of all the people.

Civic interest and a desire to serve his community will be a driving force for constructive and positive action based on the wishes of the people.

VARIANCE HEARING

The planning commission Monday night set an April 19 public hearing date on a variance request concerning lots 9, 11 and 15 of the Gillespie property on Coleman avenue.

Perry E. West

Perry Edward West, a resident of San Mateo county for the past eight years and a member of the Ravenswood School District board of trustees and the Menlo Park planning commission, is one of three challenging candidates who has filed for election to the Menlo Park city council.

An engineer by trade, West currently operates Westcon construction company in this city. He was formerly with the Ogden, Utah, city engineering department, the department of water resources of the United States; worked with the US army corps of engineers and was engineering supervisor on a replatting of Weber county, Utah.

He is affiliated with the structural engineering firm of Associated Construction Consultants, and is also a member of the Structural Engineers association of Northern California.

Besides being a member of the local public bodies named above, he has represented the Menlo Park planning commission on the bay area planning commission and is a representative of the San Mateo county school board of trustees association and a member of the school reorganization study committee for the county.

He is married, has five children and two grandchildren.

STATEMENT OF CANDIDATE

Menlo Park has good government, but it can be better and it can and should be more representative of the people.

Efficient policy making, efficient liaison between the citizens and the governing body and efficient administration are integral and necessary in order to maintain a directed growth with a minimum of cost—taxes.

Pressures exerted on a growing community, such as ours, are complex and real, therefore the growth pattern must be thoughtful and well planned to be healthy and balanced.

Appropriate development in business and industry should be in tune with the residential, and if we are to aspire to a maximum of efficiency, modern principles involving all city services and utilities must keep pace.

Along with this we must never lose sight of the cultural aspect: needs of the schools, of the public library and the various other institutions and activities lending themselves to the growth of the individual.

Our city government is the agency by means of which this balance can be accomplished.

Menlo Park will continue to grow in spite of itself. It could grow at random or it could follow a preconceived pattern which is flexible enough to recognize new problems and ideas as they develop.

Look into the background of those on the ballot and determine for yourself those who offer you the greatest in experience, good judgment, sincerity and willingness. If a man is busy doing service for some worthy cause or if he is actively engaged in civic affairs and has these given qualifications, it is a good sign he will perform well for you.

Elected by Moose

Harold Nelson and Lisle DeMar of Menlo Park were named trustees of Redwood City lodge 1112, Loyal Order of the Moose, following recent elections, it was announced this week.

Harvey Marsh will hold the past governor's chair during the forthcoming term.

The newly-elected officers will be formally seated at an April 29 installation.

Walter H. Miller

Walter Miller was born in Minnesota where he attended school and came to California in 1942.

He served three years in the merchant marine during World War II. He worked as newspaperman, reporting and advertising, for the Mountain View Register-Leader. This was followed by employment with Montgomery Ward and company for whom he worked as assistant manager until 1950.

He then joined the staff of the Consumers' Co-Operative society in South Palo Alto, where he is now employed.

He has lived in Menlo Park 2½ years. Married, he has three children, Norman, 5; Douglas, 3½ and Marilyn, 3 months.

STATEMENT OF CANDIDATE

In city government, we need not only maturity of thought, but new and fresh ideas to keep pace with progress and change.

With this thought, based on a firm belief that more people should take an active part in local government by getting into it and learning what it is, I decided to become a candidate for the city council.

We are entering, or already have entered, what appears to be a period of economic adjustment or leveling off. Therefore, all proposed expenditures of Menlo Park citizens' tax dollars must be carefully studied to ascertain their actual need or possibilities of reduction.

Adjusting of Menlo Park community services to the individual taxpayer without increasing the tax rate should be kept in mind.

At a time when the individual taxpayer, in adjusting his pocketbook to conform to a change in the economic picture, is extremely careful about his personal economical activities, it behooves the city council to be just as watchful of the public purse in which each taxpayer has a personal stake.

A city councilman should be in close touch with his constituents, responsive to their needs and desires in community development and progress.

He should be well aware of the rights of the individual and a respect for such rights should be uppermost in his mind.

The rights of the individual are best protected only when city council members recognize and respect them.

As a representative of the people, a city councilman should talk with the people, take them into his confidence when discussing and formulating plans concerning the community for the city's business is the people's business.

Such a policy, in which I firmly believe, produces a truly representative government of, for and by the people.

Good government begins on the local level.

NEW C OF C MEMBERS

Mrs. Arletta Edholm and Perry Edward West are recent new members of the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce, Secretary-Manager Gene Hammond reports.

Police Arrest 3 On Charges of Drunken Driving

Three drunken driving suspects, all apprehended in separate events, were in the hands of Menlo Park police early this week. One of them was jailed after an auto accident, following which he was placed under "citizens' arrest" by the driver of the other auto involved.

The driver who was jailed after the citizens' arrest was George Kowalik, 41, of 840 Hobart street. He was nabbed after his car assertedly struck one operated by Margaret L. Enslinger, 34, late Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Enslinger reported that she had stopped her car, on Valparaiso avenue at El Camino Real, when Kowalik's vehicle, in making a turn, crossed the center line and struck her auto.

Cecil de Vilbiss, 51-year-old retired army man, was arrested at the same intersection at 12:40 a.m. yesterday. Policemen said he almost hit a patrol car, before being picked up.

Third suspect to be arrested by Menlo Park police was William Zwierlein, 28, of Woodside. He was driving north on the highway at a speed of about 55 miles an hour when spotted, and was followed to Loyola avenue, Atherton, by police before they stopped him.

William Zwierlein's license was suspended for one year, and he was fined $350 yesterday by Municipal Judge E. I. McAuliffe. He was given an alternative of "paying" his fine by spending one day in jail for each $15 levied.

Three Town Council Incumbents Face Two Youthful Challengers As 'Write-in' Campaign Complicates Election Picture in Atherton

'Ins' Stand On Record

Harry A. Mitchell

Native Californian, born in Bay area; resident of Atherton since 1945.

1940-1941: District governor of Rotary International; chairman of finance committee 1943-1945.

1947-1949: President California State Chamber of Commerce (lifetime director).

1949-1951: Chairman San Francisco March of Dimes campaign.

1949-1953: President of the California Society for Crippled Children and Adults—previously serving at treasurer.

1950: Elected to the Atherton town council—serving as mayor since 1952.

1951: Appointed by former Governor Earl A. Warren, chief of Division of Transportation, Civil Defense, State of California. Appointed by former Governor Warren to the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit committee—subsequently elected chairman.

December 22, 1953: Appointed co-trustee in reorganization of the Sacramento Northern railway by the district court of the United States for the northern district of California, southern division appointment being ratified by the Interstate Commerce Commission on February 2, 1954.

PLATFORM

Continued effort to hold the tax rate as low as possible, consistent with good civic government. Present 48-cent rate is one of the lowest in the state.

Preservation of present zoning laws to insure construction of only single family dwellings.

Maintenance of the present high efficiency in our police department. Present facilities were constructed without one cent of bonded indebtedness.

G. H. Linsley, Jr.

Resident of San Francisco Bay area since 1923; resident and property owner in Atherton since 1938; married and father of two children.

Business: Pacific regional manager of Taylor Instrument companies, manufacturers of scientific instruments and automatic control equipment.

Civic and public activities: Past president Atherton Civic Interest league; past president Lindenwood Homes association; past president Engineers club of San Francisco; director Rotary club of San Francisco; incumbent member of Atherton town council and chairman of finance committee.

STATEMENT OF CANDIDATE

Mrs. Linsley and I moved to Atherton in 1938 because we wished to live in and enjoy the advantages of a non-commercial community dedicated to rural living, with the cultural advantages available in the vicinity of a great university.

In serving the community on the Atherton council, and in other civic activities it has been my policy to do everything possible to:

Maintain the zoning laws and regulations of Atherton, in order that our town may continue to be a residential community providing the best possible living conditions for all of its citizens.

Provide the most efficient city government possible for every tax dollar collected and to operate with the lowest tax rate possible to achieve that end.

INCUMBENTS

HARRY A. MITCHELL

GEORGE H. LINSLEY JR.

Continue to maintain our police department at the high level of efficiency for which it is so well known.

Cooperate with my fellow citizens of our town and our community in an active and constructive way on matters of public interest and public policy.

R. C. Van Houten

A resident of the San Francisco bay area for 31 years. Resided in Menlo Park 1948-1949, and in Atherton since 1950.

Business: A partner in the San Francisco investment firm of Heller, Bruce and company.

Resigned in the spring of 1953 as a director of Lindenwood Homes association and the Atherton Civic Interest league to accept an appointment to the Atherton town council.

STATEMENT OF CANDIDATE

In these days of heavy increases in property taxes the present council has held the town tax rate to 43 cents per one hundred dollars of assessed value for the last two years, one of the lowest city rates in California.

Efficient police protection and maintenance of our streets have been stressed.

Atherton is unique among Peninsula cities in that practically all of its lots ahe approximately one acre, or larger, in size. No commercial zoning is permitted.

City ordinances drafted by farseeing founders of our community provide that homes be built to insure privacy and country living to all property owners. The maintenance and enforcement of these ordinances are highly desirable if we are to keep our community from becoming just another subdivision.

Aspirants State Views

J. R. Schumacher

John R. Schumacher, the only non-incumbent Atherton town council candidate on the ballot, is a 32-year-old manufacturer. He owns and operates a plastic firm in Redwood City.

Educated as a chemical and electronics engineer at Harvard, RPI, Stanford and MIT, Schumacher served in the last war as a US navy submarine officer. His submarine was credited with the sinking of over 82,000 tons of Japanese shipping.

John R. Schumacher lives with his wife and two children at 63 Lloyden drive.

STATEMENT OF CANDIDATE

I do not disagree with current council policy, but the many new young people now living in Atherton and those who will be moving there should be represented on their town council.

Let's balance the thinking of the council by having a young person who will attack problems with a fresh approach.

Of course Atherton must preserve its unique rural charm. This means that current acreage requirements must be kept, also that business be kept out.

There should be equal treatment and codes for all people in the community.

I ask that the many new residence owners be represented by my energies so their wants and wills can be conveyed to our council.

Gilbert C. Richards

Gilbert C. Richards of 93 Melanie lane is the only write-in candidate who has indicated desire to run in the Atherton town council election to be conducted next Tuesday.

A native of Sacramento, Richards attended the University of California and Hastings college of law; he is a member of several honor societies and fraternities and was president of the Menlo Park Exchange club in 1953.

A veteran of World War II, in which he served as a glider pilot with the airborne infantry in Europe, Richards has worked successively as a commercial artist, real estate and land development operator, and builder. He is at present president of Heritage Homes, Inc., a building and landholding organization building chiefly in Lindenwood.

In connection with his World War II experiences, he holds a presidential citation, the Bronze Star and the air medal.

STATEMENT OF CANDIDATE

Close association with the Atherton scene brought home need for airing the musty mechanics that has been allowed to go on unchecked. Realization that Atherton is an island entirely surrounded by red tape, all clothed in an iron curtain. Need for new plasma to keep pace with the new and younger element infiltrating the hallowed walls.

Platform: Fair play for everybody;

An attempt to minimize the dogmatic standing on technicalities, which has neither helped Atherton by reputation nor beautification;

A review of the planning laws, which though strict and interpreted with absurd fidelity, as opposed to spirit and reason, still allow dwelling houses to be built that actually lessen the value of property in the vicinity. Or, at least, a uniformity of interpretation between the planning commission and the city hall.

An honest judgment in matters of variance requests, untainted by a preconceived bias on the part of the city hall;

A greater participation by the town council in the civic affairs of its own city. A lessening of the tendency to allow the city hall to reign unchecked, unmolested, unchallenged, so as to be enabled to make decisions which are the proper sphere of the council;

A tremendous effort to overcome the policy of the past in the matter of public relations. An extension of the hand of welcome, of service, of hospitality, to newcomers; a censorship of the negative approach to every problem presented; a more personal appeal to the people of Atherton through a more direct notification than your local newspaper to take part in the discussions and problems relevant to th ecommunity:

The need for a local businessman on the town council — one who by constant and daily association with the shortcomings of the present regime becomes aware of what should be rejected and what should be kept.

Conclusion: For these things I am willing to wage the uphill warfare of a write-in candidate. I am prompted by the same self-interest that dominates everybody's thinking. I want to protect my investment in Atherton by making it a very desirable place to live, not a place that is rapidly gaining the reputation of utter unreasonableness and negativism amongst its own citizens as well as businessmen who are unfortunate enough to have to come in from other cities to do business here.

Triplex Rezoning Wins Recommendation

A rezoning request submitted by W. E. Furr of San Francisco and Wendell Ott of 731 Bay road was recommended for approval by the city council, when members of the Menlo Park planning commission held their Monday night meeting.

The request covered three lots in Newbridge Park, now first class residential (R-1-U), which the owners asked to have rezoned to R-3, allowing them to build triplex residences.

the new building. Cost is being handled partly through a loan from the national Red Cross, and partly by counting payments as "rent" which the chapter would otherwise have had to pay.

Bequests, wills, memorial funds and other sources of income are being utilized, so that this year's operating budget is now higher than that of last year.

The chapter first started in 1898, when 11 Redwood City residents responded to a call for volunteers to help provide mandages, sheets, comfort bags, and other commodities for Spanish-American War soldiers. Eleven Redwood City residents responded.

Today, the chapter has 550 volunteers actively engaged in the unit's many projects: Home service, staff aides, motor service, canteen service, production, Gray Ladies, junior Red Cross, first aid training, water safety, loan closet and disaster relief.

His home is in East Palo Alto.

Atherton Town Council Studies Encinal 'Stop'

Atherton town council last week agreed to begin an investigation as to what kind of a "stop" signal would be best control traffic on Middlefield road adjacent to Encinal school.

The study was undertaken after the reading of a letter from the Menlo Park School District, urging that some sort of a traffic control be installed, for the safety of children entering and leaving the school grounds.

Mrs. Vern Seybold, representing the Encinal school P-TA traffic safety committee was present at the meeting. She said that she had no notion of what exact type of signal was needed, but said that one requiring a "complete stop" on the part of motorists was being sought.

According to school authorities, she told councilmen, the most dangerous hours are those when children are approaching or leaving the school—from 8 a. m. to 9 a. m. mornings, during the noon hour and after 2 p. m.

She suggested that, as an interim measure, the town council should hire a police guard to watch the crossing, for the safety of children.

Atherton town councilman and police commissioner Edward Turkington was the first to move to take the matter under study. He had been away from the city, he said, and the request for a stop light took him by surprise.

The council said it would investigate, before deciding which type of light was most feasible.

RESUBDIVISION

HOLD FAST!

When you have a good thing, hang on to it!

Menlo Park has good government. Hang on to it!

In Tuesday's municipal election, three challengers face three incumbents for three seats on our five-man city council.

If you appreciate the high standard of efficiency, integrity, public responsibility and progressive action with which this community is singularly blessed, you will vote for the three incumbents who have given us that kind of government: Charles P. Burgess, Arthur Cobbledick, and George S. Ford.

This newspaper is sometimes accused of being complacent, of adopting an All's-Right-With-the-World attitude and refusing to find fault with the conduct of public affairs.

We both accept and deny this accusation.

For a newspaper, it is much more fun—and much more profitable—to carp and criticize and raise a hue-and-cry. But we refuse to jeopardize the public welfare by creating a storm where no storm exists.

Not one of the challengers in the present council campaign yet has raised an issue. V. W. Babowal, reaching for one, intimates in his campaign statement that the present council has lost touch with "the people."

Does Mr. Babowal live in closer touch with "the people" than do our present councilmen, who live in all parts of the city, in houses like the rest of us, with families, businesses, friends and neighbors?

Babowal tries again, citing the "handling of the master plan, sign ordinance, storm drainage systems. . . ." If Mr. Babowal will look back over the record he will find the city council in every case proposed a plan for action, then listened through endless hearings and adjusted its proposals in accordance with the expressed wishes of the majority.

This is responsive and responsible city government. We would not wish to see it changed.

All the candidates have stressed the need for eceonomy and careful guarding of every tax dollar. Our present city government has an excellent record for such care in expenditures.

It is an old political tactic, in a campaign where no issues can be found, to wait until the last moment to release a startling accusation. It is then too late for truth to defend itself before the votes are counted.

We do not expect such under-handed action here. But we warn our readers to beware of last-minute revelations. Any such political skullduggery would be proof to us that our government is more in peril than we think.

Menlo Park has good government. The men who have given it to us, despite the pressures and problems of booming growth, deserve our thanks . . . and deserve our votes.

We owe it to our selves, too, to hang on to what we've got.

We urge you to vote for Burgess, Cobbledick, and Ford.

Your City's Business:

To Have Parks Or Not?

By CHARLES P. BURGESS

The city council has submitted to the people a $270,000 parks bond issue for next Tuesday's ballot. This is a very poor time to be submitting a bond issue; however, we have little choice in this matter.

The basic reason for the issue is the acquisition of park sites in Belle Haven and the Willows. Unless the last two remaining parcels of suitable unimproved land are acquired now, the opportunity for a city-wide park program will be gone beyond recall.

A group of Menlo Park citizens interested in recreation for our young people is sending a brochure through the mails to inform residents fully concerning the issue.

This brochure details the improvements to be constructed in each proposed park, the cost of the work, and the cost on the tax rate (13 cents per $100) for the bond issue and future maintenance. This column, therefore, will deal with council policy.

A vote on this bond issue is essentially one to answer the the question, should there be a city-wide park system?

Should the bond issue fail to pass, then our park program will consist of improving facilities at Nealon and Burgess parks over a period of years, but operating no neighborhood parks.

If it does pass, then we will not only improve these parks, but establish new ones in Belle Haven and the Willows, and on the grounds of the Hillview and Oak Knoll schools. It is not possible to extend the school site park program to the Willows and Belle Haven because needs there require buildings on most of the site areas.

The total cost of land acquisition at Belle Haven and the Willows is about $81,300. The total cost of improvement of all parks is placed at $246,700, of which $58,000 is to be done by city labor out of available city funds.

Four additional city gardeners will be employed for maintenance (representing 6 cents of the 13-cent total tax rate increase for the program).

The construction schedule if the bond issue passes calls for grading and installation of the underground improvements this summer, the planting of lawns next winter, with usable parks in operation in the summer of next year. Work to be done by city forces will extend over a four-year period, but the major portion will be accomplished far sooner than that.

The council is submitting the proposition of a city-wide park system to the judgement of the people of Menlo Park on April 13. The decision of the judges is final!

25 Years Ago:

Councilmen Get Vote of Confidence

The files of the Menlo Park Recorder reveal that, 25 years ago this week, the following items were news in the young community:

COUNCILMEN STAY IN

The bitter recall campaign that wracked Menlo Park in 1929 came to naught, the Recorder of April 5, reported, for during the week Dr. Alfred E. Blake and Councilman Alexander Walker succeeded in retaining their places in city government.

The newspaper reported:

"Of the 1039 registered voters in the city of Menlo Park 802 went to the polls and cast their ballots in a quiet and orderly manner, with the result that Dr. Blake received a majority of 54 and Alexander Walker 50 votes."

(Ed. note: City councilmen of today would be quite happy, too, if 80 per cent of the registered electorate would turn out for a municipal election.)

Here's something else the Recorder reported that week:

POLICE RAID CHINATOWN

"With the arrest of . . . and . . . by Officer Ed Feeley yesterday a line was secured on a dope plant which finally led to a raid on the local Chinatown last night and an order from Police Chief Thomas Furman that all Chinese not having some kind of employment leave town within 10 days.

"The woman stated that she and another white girl had for a long time been transporting drugs from Menlo Park, which has been a distributing point for dope peddlers, to San Francisco . . ."

Remember, this was 1929.

Among Other Things:

Subdivision Plans, Other Details Provide Full Agenda for Menlo Planners' Meeting

John J. Weyland's request to the planning commission for a variance in depth of one lot in the requested subdivision of the five-acre tract known as the Lands of Sorenson, fronting on Oakdell drive, was recommended for approval night.

The recommendation, repeated for the subdivision as a whole, was subject to the following points:

1. That the subdivider pay $10 per lot to defray the cost of street signs, trees and the like.
2. That an additional electrolier be put in front of lot 4.
3. That the subdivider provide a formal name for his development.
4. That street names conform to city ordinances.
5. That the utility easement terminate east of lots 6 and 7 property lines and that easement be omitted along the rear lines of lots 7 and 6.

In another action by the planning body, Dr. M. C. Oliva's request for architectural control was recommended to be granted, while the use permit decision was held over pending proper submission of a resubdivision plan by the property owners from whom Dr. Oliva is planning to purchase his site.

Dr. Oliva submitted drawings to the commission on a four-unit medical building to be constructed on a 115 foot deep by 150 foot front parcel on a portion of the lands held by Johnson and Mapa.

According to Dr. Oliva, however, the owners have not given him definite word yet as to exactly where his parcel will be located; in addition, said Dr. Oliva, he understood that he won't have the deed until the developers provide certain improvements.

SEEK INFORMATION

As to the developers, planning commissioners said they would like to know what is planned for the remainder of their property, which is located on the southeast side of Burgess park.

Architectural control was granted to the doctor, since his plans for offstreet parking, landscaping and similar considerations complied with all requirements.

A public hearing on May 3 was scheduled for the Mardell construction company's request to resubdivide lots 5 through 9, block 27, Belle Haven City and for a variance in lot width and lot area.

The lots in question are cornered by Plumas and Hamilton street.

Planners also suggested for approval the request of John Nuckton for architectural control regarding a flower stand on Stanford land east of El Camino Real. The commissioners' recommendation was accompanied by the proviso that the stand (contemplated as a r dwood "shed") be removed at the termination of its proprietor's lease.

STORE OKAYED

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Squires of San Mateo were given recommended approval by the planners on their request for architectural control concerning a proposed three-unit store building to be situated one lot from the southeast corner of Santa Cruz avenue and Evelyn street.

Set for a May 3 public hearing was A. H. Allison's request for architectural control for the addition of two bedrooms to the existing residence attached to a store building at 418 Willow road.

The architectural control request was changed, under interpretation by City Attorney James T. O'Keefe Jr. to a hearing regarding conditional use permit, section 12, and or city zoning ordinance sectio n14.

An architectural control and and fire zone change request by Aubrey Coldiron of Palo Alto was given recommended approval.

The request concerns a proposed service station on El Camino and Partridge avenue. The planners' recommendation was given wiht th estipulation that Arizona flagstone be extended around the side of the building and subject to the granting of rezoning.

Final recommendation for approval for architectural control was granted to Charles W. Jobbins for an electronics building on the rear portion of lot 5, block 10, Newbridge park 2.

M. P. Marine Among Iwo Jima 'Defenders'

The "enemy" force during the combined Army-Navy-Marine maneuver was the 2d battalion of the 4th Marine Regiment.

For a month before the landing, the 2d battalion dug into Iwo's pock-marked terrain, often using the same bunkers built during the World War II to repel the invasion of the 3rd, 4th and 5th Marine divisions.

LOCAL SPONSORS

Mayor Michael L. Belangie of Menlo Park and Mrs. Jade W. Kirkpatrick of Atherton are among 30 persons from all parts of the county who have signed papers sponsoring John Wadier as a candidate against incumbent Superior Court Judge Aylett R. Cotton.

Deputy registrars of voters may sign up voters at any time during the year, but voters must be signed up in advance.

Qualifications of voters include: citizenship, age 21 years or over; residence in the state one year, the county 90 days prior to the next election.

For the convenience of voters, the following deputy registrars of voters are listed:

Underway Next Week:

Little League Officials List Dates For Tryouts, Tell Expansion Plans

Menlo Park Little League officers have announced their schedule of tryout times and dates for prospective team members next week, and announced plans for a "farm team" league for youngsters who can't be fitted into the eight teams of the Little League's two circuits.

Phil Bengston, who will be in charge of next week's tryouts, has asked all interested fathers to come to Nealon park on April 12, 13 and 14—the dates for the tryouts—to help supervise the work.

At the same time he announced that league areas would be the same as last year: the American league will consist of four teams drawn from parts of the Menlo Park area west of the SP tracks; the National league will be formed of members drawn from east of the tracks.

There will be four teams in each circuit; boys who played on the teams last year will form a nucleus around which new players will be added.

Squads will be enlarged this year so that all teams will have adequate reserves even when some team members are on vacation, it was announced this week by Thomas (Bud) Searles, Little League official. As many as 20 boys may be assigned to each team with responsibility for selecting a starting squad devolving upon individual team coaches.

FARM CIRCUIT

Boys who fail to make the eight Little League teams will be invited to join the "farm" loop, which will be sponsored by the city recreation department, under the direction of City Recreation Director Fred Parsons.

Meanwhile, tryout dates for next week:

April 12: 10 a. m., American League 12-year-olds; 2 p. m., National League 12-year-olds.

April 13: 10 a. m., American League 11-year-olds; 2 p. m. National League 11-year-olds.

April 14: 10 a. m., American League, 10 years old and under; 2 p. m., National League, 10 years old and under.

Practice by teams will start shortly after squads are formally named; Little League play will get under way shortly after the close of school in June.

M-A High School Netmen Hope For Friday Win

Bolstered by two standout transfers, Menlo-Atherton high schools tennis team is raising its sights for the remainder of the Peninsula Athletic League season.

Coach William Ziegler's netters begin their campaign for a strong finish tomorrow at San Mateo.

Gulden and Rawson Lloyd, who recently moved from Santa Barbara won easily last Friday in leading the Bears to their first PAL win, a 4-1 decision over San Jose there. The brothers have been enrolled in M-A for some time, but were not allowed to participate previously because they had turned out late.

The only action slated for the Bear racquetmen next week is a practice go against Bellarmine at M-A on Friday.

MAHS B and C Cindermen Win—Varsity Loses

Menlo-Atherton high school's class C track team topped its impressive list of 1954 conquests Tuesday afternoon by burying Willow Glen, 68-0, in a Southern division Peninsula Athletic League meet at San Jose.

The Bruin Bs also won, 76-37, while the unlimiteds of Don Dorfmeier and George Egan took it on the chin once again, 71-42. The C shutout, a rarity in cinder competition, constituted the largest margin of victory ever piled up by one M-A athletic team in any sport. It definitely established the Bears as PAL title contenders.

According to oval expert Dan Varty, who, because of a muscle injury, has been watching rather than running, M-A posted several impressive sprint times. Dave Easley ran a 22.3 220-yard dash in the varsity meet, Hal Turner clicked off an 8.2 in the Class B 75, and Dick Telles reeked off an 8.3 in the Class C 75. Also impressive in the C meet, according to Dan Varty, was Bud Varty's shot putting and Chuck Weesner's third in the low hurdles after he had fallen while in the lead.

Dave Easley rattled off impressive times in the sprints, but Menlo-Atherton high school's varsity track team fell a little short of Sequoia in a Southern division Peninsula Athletic League dual meet at Redwood City last Friday.

Easley clicked off his best 220 of the yet-young season with a 22.3, which rates among the best recorded in Northern California this season and was clocked in 10.3 for the hundred—knotting his top century mark thus far.

The Bear varsity fell, however, as Sequoia surprised in several events and won by 59⅔ to 53⅓. Coach Don Dormeier's B team was also edged out, 61-52 but the undefeated Bear Cs walloped their Cherokee rivals, 60-8, giving Menlo-Atherton the advantage in total scoring, which means nothing.

Freshman class C sprinter Hal Turner, again running in place of injured B sprinter Wade Hampton, came up with another impressive 8.2 in the B 75-yard dash.

Menlo-Atherton has no meets scheduled for next week.

After Tuesday Loss:

Varsity Baseball Team Has Hope Against Sequoia There Tomorrow

Rivals Sequoia and Menlo-Atherton tangle tomorrow in a Southern division Peninsula Athletic League baseball game at Redwood City. Starting time for the prep battle is 3:15 p.m.

Coach Howard Costello, whose Menlo-Atherton crew broke a 24-inning scoreless streak but still lost their SPAL opener to Lincoln at San Jose last Friday, 3-2, will use ace righthander Bill Gibbs against the powerful Sequoians.

Gibbs has been very impressive for the most part this year, although he has lost all of his three starts. He has a 2.33 earned run average and 28 strikeouts.

Last week the senior veteran was the victim of three unearned runs, which beat him and leveled M-A for the sixth time in as many starts. Lincoln catcher John Stewart gained first base on an error in the fifth inning and then proceeded to steal second, third and home to provide the margin of victory.

Menlo scored its pair in the second on a walk to Dohn Bogue, triple by Bob Mathis and single by Jerry Baker. Baker and Adrian Ledda, both sophomores, paced the locals at the plate with two singles each.

The Bears do not play next week.

Menlo - Atherton high school's varsity baseball team kept coming but never quite arrived Tuesday in a Southern division Peninsula Athletic League baseball game against Palo Alto at Flood park. The Bears had two rallies cut short and were plunged to their seventh straight defeat, 8-7.

As was the case last Friday, the potential tying run was thrown out sliding at home plate in the last inning to erase the Menlo threat. Two three run innings just prior to that had just missed closing the gap.

Down 5-1 and without a decent base hit going into the fifth, the locals rose up to drive Vike starter Morris Turner, a painfully slow curveballer, from the mound. Lew Thomas lashed a triple and Dunc Ferguson and Troy Ratliff added singles, which, coupled with two walks and an error, produced three runs for 5-4.

With two gone in the top of the sixth, however, Paly combined a walk and two singles off reliefer Bill Gibbs to boost its total to eight. M-A got all three back in its half on three walks off Norse reliefer Stacey Henell ,a hit batter and t single by Ratliff.

Then, in the bottom of the seventh, pinch hitter Ken Rose delivered with a bad hop single to right and then tried to come all the way around when Thomas followed with a line double against the right center field fence. The relay from John Munday to Jim Campbell to George Conner nailed him easily, however, and Thomas died on third.

Stan Jacobs started for Coach Howard Costello's green and winless club, but was finally driven out after four very rocky innings. Gibbs, in relief, struck out the first four and the last three men to face him, but had a little trouble in between.

Thomas, a junior outfielder, took over the club batting leadership with an even .500 on six hits in 12 attempts. Jacobs a senior who can pitch or play in the pastures, follows at .308—four for 13. The team is wailing away at a dismal .192 rate while opponents blasted out .229.

'Egg' Contests Next Week at Area Playgrounds

Playgrounds at Hillview, Encinal, Oak Knoll, Fremont and Central schools will be supervised during Easter vacation through Thursday, it was anounced this week by Gayle Allinger of the city recreation department.

Hours during which supervision will be available are 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Besides being available at the schools. As usual, Burgess park gym will be open.

There will be a "special event" on each playground, in the form of an Easter egg decorating contest, during the week.

Youngsters can bring as many hard-boiled eggs or "blown" eggs as they desire, and the rec department will provide materials for decoration of the youngsters want to use them.

Prizes will be awarded in two divisions: one for children between 6 and 8 years of age and another for children from 9 to 12 years of age.

Prizes will be awarded for "best decorative design," "prettiest Easter Egg bonnet, "prettiest egg," "funniest egg" and "most unusual egg."

Rules will be announced at the playgrounds.

Contests will be as follows:

Ten a.m. Tuesday, Fremont school; 1 p.m. Tuesday, Oak Knoll school; Wednesday, 10 a.m., Encinal; Wednesday, 1 p.m., Hillview; Thursday, 10 a.m., Central school.

2 Area Men Enter Pebble Beach Races

Two Menlo Park area men will be among the contestants Saturday when the Cypress Point handicaps novice races of the annual Pebble Beach sport car races get underway.

The Saturday races, for drivers with less experience than these in the Pebble Beach Cup and Del Monte trophy races Sunday, will begin at 10 a.m.

From this area, Dr. P. S. Talbot of Woodside will enter his class F MG TDC in the division for cars under 1500 cubic centimeters displacement; Bill Barbour, piloting a DuCles Special powered by a Ford V-8-60 power plant will enter the novice race for larger autos. His vehicle is rated class D.

Dr. Talbot's machine will bear number 155; Barbour's, in the other race will bear the number 150.

2 MP Students In Glee Clubs

Two Menlo Park students, both freshmen at Pomona college at Claremont, California, have been named members of glee clubs at the institution.

They are Stewart G. Graham, son and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon W. Graham of 1770 Oakdell drive and Elizabeth Mosher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin W. Mosher of 1175 Johnson street.

2 Student Teachers At Encinal Here

Mrs. Jean Norton and E. G. Garry, both student-teachers assigned from San Jose State college, are currently working with regular instructors at Encinal school.

Mrs. Norton is with Mrs. Elizabeth Mehun in the kindergarten; Garry is helping with the eighth grade under instruction of Mrs. Doris Beltz. The student-teachers will be working in Menlo Park classrooms for the next six weeks, as part of their regular teacher training.

Menlo-Atherton Hi-Y Views Motion Pictures

Menlo-Atherton Hi-Y club members viewed a motion picture on "Sermons from Science" and heard a short talk by Dick Woodward, youth director of the Peninsula Bible Fellowship, at their regular meeting at Menlo-Atherton high school Monday evening.

In addition to the regular members a score of boys interested in joining the organization next year attended the meeting. The talk was in keeping with the club's balanced programming standards, which stress educational, social, athletic and religious programs.

The club also announced a "box social" dance for April 14.

Boys' Club Boxers Meet St. Agnes Here Tomorrow

A final invitation was issued to members of the community this week, urging all interested residents to watch the Menlo Park Boys' Boxing club take to the ring at Burgess park gym, in a return match against young boxers representing the St. Agnes Boys' club of San Francisco.

Celebrities, too, were getting ready to participate in the program, along with the 12 members of the club who have been selected to represent various divisions in the matches.

Stanford Boxing Coach Ray Lunny will act as referee; boxing instructors for the Menlo Park club, Gabe Oller and Edgar Pabalis will act as seconds for the localites.

Mayor Michael L. Belangie will emcee the matches and Frankie Albert has been named one of the ringside judges.

Chuck Taylor, Stanford's football mentor, will serve as the timer.

The boys, ranging in age from 3 to 18 include, for the locals, Richard Bowden, Richard Costello, Jerry Christensen, Charles Davis, Michael Kerngold, Michael Lawrence, Bobby Potter, Ronny Potter, David Rosander, Carl Lindau, Johnny Ystrom and Tommy Kohlruss.

The Menlo Park Boys' boxing club is co-sponsored by the Menlo Park recreation department and Menlo Park VFW post 7145.

Folk Dancing Party Saturday

The Menlos Amigos folk dancers will hold their April folk and square dance party at Burgess park gymnasium this Saturday, beginning at 8:30 p. m. All advanced-intermediate dancers from the entire Peninsula area are welcome to join in this festivity.

Tod Rehlich, Belmont, who is chairman for the Menlos Amigos group, states that the Gay Nighters from San Jose will be present to exhibit a colorful dance.

Among Menlos Amigos members assisting Rehlich will be Mary Westall, George Gardin, Eleanor Torvich, Nina Kohler, Ralph Shupe and Mr. and Mrs. Al Hasse.

Guard Unit Slates Small Arms Practice

Members of Menlo Park's Battery D, national guard unit with headquarters at Burgess park gym will journey to Fort Barry, Marin county, Sunday, to participate in small arms firing practice.

Members of the battery, which is a unit of the 149th AA artillery battalion of San Mateo county, will fire with 30-caliber carbines.

Warrant Officer Waldo Waelty, in charge of battery offices here, said that the unit now numbers 51 men, all of whom are expected to attend.

Battery members will leave by motor convoy at about 5:30 a. m. and will be fed, during the day, with food prepared on field kitchens.

Captain William R. Nichols will be in command.

Boy Hit by Softball, Parents Ask $50,000

A claim for $50,000 against the Menlo Park Elementary School district, filed by the parents of a pupil who was hit in the head by a softball, has been turned over to the district's insurance carriers, district trustees learned Monday night.

The boy is back in school, school district Superintendent Mel Homfeld reported.

Meanwhile, he told the trustees, in another recent accident, a Hillview school pupil recived cuts requiring 130 stitches, when he dived through a window at Hillview school. No suit has yet been filed in his behalf.

Upset Record:

Frosh-Soph Baseballers Drop 3rd Straight Game to End Win Streak

A nine game Menlo-Atherton high school frosh-soph baseball win streak was rudely snapped last week as Coach Frank Bettencourt's nine dropped two games in as many starts.

Worse, the loss that ended the streak, which dated back to last April and included three games this season, was the worst ever suffered by a M-A frosh-soph team.

Last Thursday the Bruins were drubbed by San Mateo in a Peninsula Athletic League outing at San Mateo, 25-2. Recovering surprisingly well, the locals put together a good ball game Friday in a losing practice effort against Sequoia in Redwood City. In contrast, the score was 2-1.

Menlo was slated to take on Palo Alto there in a league go this afternoon. The Bears have no games docketed for next week—Easter vacation at the school.

Donn Thomas, who was driven out of the box Thursday after looking very impressive in two previous starts, and Don De Feo both got two hits for the two tilts. The Bears only totaled eight hits and four runs for the games. They committed 10 errors against San Mateo, which appears to be the PAL's "team to beat."

* * * *

The record of Menlo-Atherton high schools' frosh-soph baseball team was evened at 3-3 Tuesday when the Bears dropped their third straight, a 4-0 practice game decision to the Carlmont junior varsity at San Carlos.

Coach Frank Bettencourt opened with reserves, saving his regulars for today's league go at Palo Alto. Freshmen Ray Carter and Larry Miller shared the pitching duties and both showed remarkable improvement over their last time out. Carter started, pitched the first four frames, and was the loser.

Sonny McNitt rapped a double, his second this season, and Bob Wendell and Jim Finegold both smashed singles to account for the only three M-A hits.

The line score:	R	H	E
Menlo-Atherton 000 000 0	0	3	3
Carlmont 101 200 x	4	6	0

8 M-A Tracksters At 'Invitational'

Eight Menlo-Atherton athletes have been invited to tomorrow night's Sequoia Invitational Track meet at Terremere field in Redwood City.

Coach Don Dorfmeier will send north a varsity relay team of Bill Hilton, Tom Blackwood, Dave Easley and Ken McKenna, which has posted a 134.3 already and which Dorfmeier believes is capable of hitting 1:33; and a Class C relay team of Dick Telles, Pete McIntyre, Bob Newman and Hal Turner, which has already come up with a 48.8.

In addition, Blackwood will be entered in the varsity broad jump and McKenna will run in the varsity 440. Class B sprinter Wade Hampton was invited but he is out of action until after Easter because of a muscle injury.

More than 20 bay area schools will send their outstanding performers to the meet, which was first held last year.

Camera Club Meet Is Next Week

Colored photographic transparencies of "A Trip into the Sierras" plus color slide competition and a discussion of "black and white" photography will be featured at the next meeting of the Camino Camera club, to be held April 14 at the yellow room, city council chambers building, civic center.

Visitors and photography fans who are interested in any phase of photography are always welcome. Meetings start at 8 p. m.

School District Can Operate on Tax Rate of $1.50 per $100 Valuation, Figures Show

The present instruction program of the Menlo Park School District probably can be continued on a tax rate of $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation for another year, it was revealed Monday night, but district trustees still have to decide what teachers will have to be "let go" in case the district is forced to operate, next year, on a 90-cent tax rate.

Already, School District Superintendent Mel Homfeld reported, nine teachers have resigned, and others have asked for leaves of absence. The district will have to notify others, before April 15, whether they are to be retained or not.

Since, at present, the district can anticipate a tax rate of only 90 cents per $100 assessed valuation, a 30 per cent cut in the district's teaching staff will become necessary for the next school year, unless voters back a measure raising the permissive tax rate ceiling to $1.75.

Homfeld said that estimates given by his department heads and school principals indicate that, if the district is to operate next year as it is now, total cost would be about $693,000.

This figure can be modified, he said, and only represents a "starting point" from which trustees will begin calculations for next year's costs, trustees said. They pointed out that the budget for the current year was about $650,000,financed on a tax rate of $1.454, and that therefore the figure submitted Monday indicates the school district can be operated near, or below, the $1.50 rate for the coming year.

Trustees undertook to look over teachers' records on the basis, however, that they wanted to retain only such teachers as were best able to handle larger classes. Such classes—numbering from 35 to 40 pupils. it is estimated—will result if the district's voters call for operation under the 90 cent rate ceiling.

Propose Survey Of Who Uses Library Here

Menlo Park's board of library trustees last week agreed to ask the city council to appropriate money for a survey, purpose of which is to determine the number of users of the Menlo Park branch library, 631 Menlo avenue, who reside outside the city limits.

The survey is asked, library trustees aver, because it shows how much of the county library tax should be credited to the city of Menlo Park. A survey conducted last summer by the mayor's library committee, formed before the library trustees were appointed, indicated that one out of four users of the Menlo Park branch resides outside the city.

For its support the local branch only receives such tax funds as currently comes from inside Menlo Park.

The library trustees also discussed plans for a rental shelf and a book plate design contest for the city's school children.

The winning design would be used to identify books owned by the city.

Schools Week Plans Launched

Preparation for the 35th annual California Public Schools Week, April 26 through May 1, have gotten under way in South San Mateo county with the appointment of a committee to work with the local school authorities in the development of a well-rounded program.

The members of the committee are William H. Kennedy, chairman; Wallace O. Jones, John W. Twelvetrees and Wade Hampton.

The chairman announced that he is arranging a conference between his committee and the school authorities to help with the preparations for the week.

Special efforts will be made to get local merchants to join in the event with window displays.

Clubs will be urged to build programs around the schools for this occasion.

Members Named to C of C Schools Body

Members to serve on the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce public schools committee were announced Tuesday by Chairman George Cleese.

Those named were A. A. Vandervoort, Robert Coate, Ray Snow and Dr. Frank Novak. First meeting of the committee has been scheduled for early next week.

Student Congress To Gather at M-A On Saturday

Menlo Atherton high school will act as host to 120 students from throughout Northern California, who will be participating Saturday in the annual Student Congress sponsored by the National Forensic league.

The 'teenagers will spend all day from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.) in a session based on Congress. "Legislation" of student bills will be carried on from the floor of both the "Senate" and the "House."

Many of the participants, especially those from Valley schools, will be leaving for the congress at 3 a. m. and 4 a. m. on Saturday in school buses.

A panel of local residents will act as judges during the session —they will include Robert Ensign, Mrs. Robert Bowen and Mrs. William Mixter, with Stanley Dorfer and Robert Ross representing the M-A faculty.

Nancy MacNaught, faculty advisor to the Menlo-Atherton forensic club, is serving as general chairman of the event.

Central Vacated . . .

least for the time being.

This is possible because no correspondence indicating the rooms are inadequate is on file, according to Sorenson's opinion.

Edward Estberg, candidate for the school district board, stated from the audience that he thought the two rooms at Fremont should be abandoned anyhow, in the interest of the safety of the children, or that funds presently set aside for the acquisition of a school site in Stanford Village be diverted to the rebuilding of the two rooms.

He was told that city officials have indicated considerable optimism in the release of acreage in the Village area in the near future. Homfeld pointed out that the district, which has been negotiating for the site for the past six years, should be in a position to buy the property should it be made available.

Another member of the audience, who identified himself as a resident of Linfield Oaks, said that he was more in favor of keeping money available for such a purchase than for rebuilding the rooms at Fremont.

Meanwhile, the children transferred from Central have been moved to four classrooms, a crafts room and at Encinal, and are operating as a "school within a school" under teaching Vice Principal Ennio Ciolli. They will continue to operate in this fashion until the close of the present school year.

FIRST THROUGH SIXTH

Classes transferred range from first through sixth grades. There were no kindergartens, seventh or eighth grade classes at Central.

The Central school plant will continue to house the school district's administrative offices pending an opinion on whether or not the district will be liable for injuries to adults: it presently also houses the district's instructional storage room.

New Candidates:

J. C. Davenport Issues Statement on Why He Is Running for School District Board

John C. Davenport of 57 Moulton drive, Atherton, who Tuesday filed as a candidate for the Menlo Park Elementary School District board of trustees, yesterday issued the following statement:

"I am filing for the Menlo Park Elementary School District board because I feel that we must retain the well rounded high standard educational program that has been developed during the past few years here in this school district.

"This program has been the result of careful study by the school board, citizens committees, and through the assistance and recommendation of educational specialists from other areas.

"This program, however, must be administered on a practical and economical basis thus assuring the voters of our community that they are receiving full value for the tax money required.

"I have great faith in the people of this community and in the fact that they want not only the basic so-called 3-R training, but additional training in many other ways to prepare their children for proper integration into our modern complex society. I believe this to be a basic desire of most people.

"To continue this educational program with the full cooperation of the citizens of this community it must be administered within a budget which is acceptable to citizens fully informed of the facts.

"We should strive for equal opportunity for all children, interest and active participation by the community, and an unselfish and open minded approach by everyone concerned.

"These general statements represent my convictions. On these principles I wish to be judged as a candidate for election to board membership."

More School Use To Be Topic Of Student Panel

"How Can Greater Use be Obtained from Our Schools?" is the topic Menlo - Atherton students will discuss over station KIBE this Sunday at 12:15 p. m.

The panel discussion program will feature Diane Wickstrom, Brian Mokler, Berkeley Johnston, Laurajane Meredith, panelists, and Melinda Percy, moderator.

During the 15-minute broadcast ideas on the following subjects will be brought out and discussed among the students who will be seeking to find solutions to the present crowded conditions of high schools: year-round school sessions, double and split sessions, the question of electives, and possibly use of industrial and trade schools.

Fremonter Tops Area Speakers

Roger Wassen, Fremont high school student, won the Lions club area speaking contest by eliminating Menlo-Atherton high school student Bill Boorman and one other student speaker Monday night at Los Altos. He will represent the local Lions district later this month at Hoberg's, announces Fred Simon of Menlo Park, zone chairman.

Judges of the contest, conducted at a dinner-meeting at a Los Altos restaurant, included Palo Alto municipal judge Alfred W. Bowen, the Rev. H. Wooding, pastor of Mountain View Presbyterian church and J. A. Beeson of the Palo Alto public schools.

Sewage Plant Has Partial Shutdown

Menlo Park Sanitary District's sewage treatment plant was partially shut down for two days last week, when replacement of an electrical "feeder" line became necessary.

Plant operator Warren Uhte reported that the plant was in only partial operation from 11 p. m. March 28, when a circuit breaker "kicked out" revealing the need for replacement, and 3 p. m. on March 30.

14 Finalists Vie For District Spelling Honors

A total of 14 pupils, representing grade levels from fourth through eighth, will compete. The winner will participate in a county spelling bee to be held in Burlingame later this month.

District Curriculum Consultant Paul R. Stouffer will be the "pronouncer" at tomorrow's bee; Chamber of Commerce Secretary-Manager Gene Hammond and Recorder Managing Editor Roger Freeberg will act as judges.

Contestants in tomorrow's contest and their grade levels, include:

Central school: Anne Brinton, Kay Shattuck, fifth grade.

Encinal school: Madeline Low, Susan Lampman, Jerry Mortensen, Johanne Franson, all seventh graders.

Fremont school: Marilyn Booth sixth, and Peter Iverson, fourth.

Oak Knoll school: Larry Blaich and Sally Jean Ennis, sixth grade.

New Kind of Club:

High School Youngsters with a Plan 'Get the Feel' of Teaching Career

Something different in the way of high school clubs is now in operation, to the advantage of both a conscientious group of students at Menlo-Atherton and four classrooms of pupils at Encinal school.

The high school students who are working on the unique project are members of the Future Teachers' club at Menlo-Atherton; they've been observing the children in Encinal school classes and plan to get their first—albeit, informal — classroom experience and will be teaching songs and reading stories to the younger children in the near future, for two hours a week.

At the present time there are four members of the Future Teachers' club engaged in the activity. One of them, club president Bob Churton, is teaching an Encinal fourth grade class some of the rudiments of Spanish.

The other three—Pat Fallon, Shirley Stevens and Wandalee Pedigo—are still observing but will "help out," more actively, in the near future, according to Encinal Principal Mrs. Ina Porter.

The program got underway, Mrs. Porter recalls, after she addressed the Future Teachers' club members at one of their meetings shortly after the first of the year.

Some of the club members got sufficiently enthusiastic to volunteer for "observing" at the grade school.

Meanwhile, in Menlo-Atherton's girls' athletic department, some of the students decided that a lot of time could be saved if up-and-coming freshmen played games by the same rules used at the high school.

ON PLAYGROUNDS

To make sure that the girls graduating from Encinal know these rules, the girls' athletic department got some volunteer high school seniors to go to Encinal three afternoons a week, to aid in playground supervision.

All four of the high school students who are working in the classrooms are seniors, too, Mrs. Porter reports, and all have indicated that the plan to study teaching when they enter college in the fall.

They're just making sure, at the present time, that classroom situations hold their interest in practice as well as in theory.

'WESTWARD MOVEMENT' TOPIC OF PLAY

"The Westward Movement" will be depicted soon, in a play being presented to the Oak Knoll school student body by Francis Cantu's fifth grade class.

The youngsters, who have been studying the subject in their social studies, have decided to display their newly-obtained knowledge before their fellows.

In May 21 Election:

Adm. C. J. Wheeler Challenges Holland For Elementary School Board Post

The first contest for a seat on the Menlo Park Elementary School District board of trustees developed late last week, with Rear Admiral C. Julian Wheeler (USN, ret.) announced that he will compete with school board Chairman Ben G. Holland in the May 21 election.

Admiral Wheeler, in announcing his decision to run, states that although he personally favored the $1.50 permissive tax rate maximum, he intends to vote for the $1.75 maximum rather than allow the district to return to the statutory rate of 90 cents per $100 assessed valuation which, he says, "would be insufficient to maintain present standards in the elementary schools next year."

Admiral Wheeler, who resides at 1850 Oakdell drive, has had educational administrative experience as part of his naval career.

He established the naval ROTC unit at Holy Cross university, Worcester, Mass., and served as professor of naval science and tactics from July 1941 to December 1942; he served on the staff of the naval war college at Newport, RI, from June 1939 to September of that year and he was the American head of the Brazilian naval war college from February 1946 to February 1948.

In stating his candidacy, the admiral observed:

"I feel that there is a serious need to return to the teaching and fundamental principles upon which our country was founded.

WOULD RETURN

"If this had been properly done in the case of the American GI's who chose to remain with the Communists in Korea, it is my belief that all of them would have returned to their homes.

"The appalling rise of juvenile delinquency," the statement continues, "points to the need for placing greater emphasis on education and training the students to become responsible citizens by a thorough understanding of the motivations and objectives of the founding fathers.

"More time should be devoted to learning and less to collateral subjects, especially those which verge on seeking to keep the students entertained or amused. I think modern children are perfectly able to withstand similar training and discipline and I believe my experience on the staff of three colleges may be of some value at this time . . ."

Admiral Wheeler adds that, because of the unprecedented increase in the school-age population, it becomes, in his view, "necessary for the trustees to personally examine every item of expense, in order to assure themselves that every dollar of the taxpayers' money is properly accounted for."

Admiral Wheeler, a graduate of Annapolis with the class of 1916, is a member of the San Mateo county council, Boy Scouts of America; a charter member of the University club of Palo Alto and a vestryman of Holy Trinity Episcopal church of Menlo Park.

Scouts Here Tag a Check For 'Friendship'

The Live Oak district, San Mateo county Boy Scout council, has just sent a check for $39.50 to the Scout office, representing the offering of Cubs, Scouts, Explorers and their leaders at the joint district Scout Sunday service, held in the Menlo Park Presbyterian church during Scouting's anniversary week.

This money is to be turned over to the World Friendship fund of the Boy Scouts of America — a fund used to promote and extend Scouting in foreign countries.

For a number of years this fund has been operating to send overseas, uniforms, equipment, literature, and other training aids.

Sometimes the work is done directly by a unit adopting a unit overseas—a sort of "big brother" arrangement, but more often, the money is channeled through the national council, and from there, through the international bureau handling gifts to other countries.

Down to Earth:

Proper Soil Preparation First Step For Success with Planting Seeds

By TERRY LEE

This is seed planting time, and it can be pretty disappointing unless some important steps are followed.

It always contains an element of chance at best because the weather can be too hot or too wet, and the birds, insects and diseases can beat you to the crop.

With all that can go wrong, it is amazing how perservering most seeds are, and you will always have a satisfactory amount of success.

Soil preparation is the major part of planting seed. Most of Menlo Park is blessed with rich topsoil that has overflowed from the creek, or well-tilled orchard and farm lands.

Where adobe does exist, it is best to provide drainage with tiles and haul in a lot of topsoil. In most places, the addition of peat moss and commercial fertilizer will do the trick. This, however, is a surface cure, and the best preparation for a garden involves digging with a fork and breaking the clumps of dirt with the fork or a hoe.

The Dutch dig three and four shovelfulls deep, so we should hardly complain at one.

NEXT STEP

The surface can then be prepared by raking, and peat moss and fertilizer added during this process. I like to mark straight rows with a string and two stakes, and draw the planting furrow with the handle of a hoe.

After placing the seeds in the furrow, the hoe can be used to draw back the soil and the flat side used to tamp down the surface.

Where seeds are planted in a "hill," only the circle where the seeds are planted needs to be dug, but of course you are improving your soil if you can dig farther.

I like to use a few spadesful of rotted manure or compost at the bottom of a hole that will have several seeds or plants on top. This provides fine drainage and encourages deep roots in search of good food.

DAMPNESS CONTROL

Moisture and warmth are essential to the germination of seed once it has been properly planted.

I say "moisture," because water enough to stand on the surface will surely kill most seeds.

Warmth is provided by waiting for certain spring weather and planting in a sunny place. Since tender, sweet vegetables depend on rapid growth for their goodness, being the first in the neighborhood to plant a garden is often not such a great advantage.

When you are planting you can simplify your work by keeping all your small tools in a basket — the string, stakes, seeds, fertilizer, measure, etc.

This is a good year to try your luck with plants from seed, as all seed, and especially the hybrid varieties, is greatly improved.

Some flowers to try are marigolds, zinnia, calendula, cosmos, portulaca, cornflower, morning glories. Vegetables should include Swiss chard, beans, squash, corn, lettuce.

GRRDEN CALENDAR WEEK OF APRIL 8

Snails are after every new plant but poisoned bait watered in around the plants will give you a harvest of dead snails in the morning.

Aphis and mildew are about to plague us. Roses are the most susceptible, and should be sprayed every two weeks with an all-purpose spray.

Aphis also like to hide in the tight bulbs of artichokes or tulips. They are present on almost every plant, but will not do too much damage if hot weather comes in a few weeks.

They can be controlled with Lindane, pyrethrins, rotenone, nicotine sulphate. DDT does not control them.

Any plants you have in tubs need a good feeding, especially citrus. And don't forget to scratch the surface of the soil. It needs even more cultivating than a vegetable garden.

The drifts of wildflowers on the hills are worth a special trip in the country—the orange poppies and yellow buttercups set off by the blue lupine and taller ceanothus. In the woods the fern fronds are emerging as fiddleheads.

The Garden club of Menlo Park is presenting a spring flower show on May 16, and there are several entry classifications that need to be given some thought now — specimen cut flowers, potted plants, etc.

Mrs. Ina Porter Aids Principals' Study

Mrs. Ina Porter, principal of Encinal school here is aiding in the preparation of a questionnaire to be used in connection with a study project of the San Mateo county principals' association, it was announced this week.

Mrs. Porter is co-chairman of the association"s professional growth committee.

Edmund Silverbrand, principal of Brentwood school in East Palo Alto, was selected to represent the group at a forthcoming meeting of the bay section of the California Elementary School Administrators' association.

Thomas E. Haven recently visited Congressman J. Arthur Younger at his Washington offices, the representative reported this week.

OBITUARY

Theresa Browning

Private funeral services were held Tuesday for Mrs. Theresa Browning, a resident of Menlo Park for the past six months who died early this week.

The Vets' Guide:

'Cal-Vet' Loans Still Retain Lowest Interest

The "Cal-Vet" rate of interest on home and farm purchases, which has just been continued at 3 per cent by the California veterans board, is one of the lowest available to veterans anywhere, according to Floyd D. Granger, veterans service officer of San Mateo county.

"However," he pointed out, "the State Department of Veterans Affairs is able to provide this benefit to California veterans only by financing homes which are sound investments from all points of view.

"Veterans who intend to use Cal-Vet financing should acquaint themselves with the Department's requirements before they draw up plans, or write a check for a down payment.

"Whether you have in mind a lot to build on, or an existing dwelling," Granged cautioned, "make your down payment subject to approval of the property by the department."

He urged that veterans acquaint themselves with the department's requirements regarding eligibility of applicants, suitability of the property, maximum loans and property values, and contract provisions.

Eligibility is limited to veterans who served honorably at least 90 days in World Wars I and II and the Korean war, and entered military service as Californians by birth or residence.

"Be especially careful," Granger added, "where non-conventional construction is involved. For your own protection, give the department adequate time to look at the plans and inspect the actual work."

"I like to think," Granger concluded, "that the veterans who are glad they weren't hasty greatly outnumber those who regret the day they were. This is most important when one makes a lifetime investment in a home."

EXAMINE OLIVER'S CANE

MRS. FRANK J. BURKE (left) presents a thornwood cane, once belonging to the late Dennis J. Oliver, partner with D. C. McGlynn in ownership of the old Menlo Park ranch, to Miss Susan Gale (right), Menlo Park historian.

For Centennial Celebration:

First of 'Old Menlo' Display Items Received Monday from Mrs. F. Burke

By MAGGIE MOORE

First of the historical items which will form an exhibit of "Old Menlo" at the coming Centennial celebration, was received Monday morning by Miss Susan Gale, Menlo Park historian.

A black thornwood cane, with its gold head decorated with gold quartz stones and engraving, and belonging to the late Dennis J. Oliver, was presented to Miss Gale by Mrs. Frank J. Burke.

Oliver was a partner with D. C. McGlynn in owning the Menlo Park ranch which extended from El Camino Real west to the Alameda de las Pulgas. Engraved around the head of the cane are the words, "Presented to D. J. Oliver by his employees January 30, 1864."

All signs of the original ranch have passed with time and the area is now the "West Menlo" residential section of our town.

Mrs. Burke decided to present the cane to Miss Gale Thursday when she noted the picture in the Recorder in which the historian was showing a picture of the original gates to the Oliver and McGlynn ranch to Admiral C. Julian Wheeler, president of the Centennial association. The gates were destroyed after the photograph was taken in 1904.

Oliver's cane came into the possession of Mrs. Burke through her son, the late Francis M. Burke, who was a collector of early California history and memorabilia.

Before his death in 1947, the young lawyer had gathered groups of items of various phases of state history, one group of which is now housed at the custom house in Monterey. The cane was one of the items pertaining to local history.

NATIVE CALIFORNIAN

Mrs. Burke, who resides with her niece, Miss Marian Nealon, at 12 Maywood lane, is a native Californian, and she and Miss Gale spent the main part of their visit recalling old times and residents. Families of both women arrived in California before 1850.

Mrs. Burke's father was Isaac Monroe Baker whose part in California history has been partially recorded by Hubert Bancroft. He arrived in California at Monterey in 1846 after a trip around the Horn. He was in charge of the custom house there while a corporal in the US army.

After the Mexican war, he received land grants, as was the custom of the time, and settled in the La Honda area.

"But he liked to travel around," Mrs. Burke recalled. Colma, Mission, San Jose and Monterey also were home to him. In the La Honda area are many landmarks wheich Baker left.

On a part of his property was located the "Pioneer camp" where residents of Redwood City vacationed. Bakers Falls bear his name. The property is now owned by the Frank Cavalli family there.

In early days, before the road from La Honda to Redwood City was built, Mrs. Burke told, people were disputing the proposed route even as they do about todays' roads.

"Everyone wanted the shortest way," she said, "and my father had his own ideas about which way it should be. He said that if a man went on horseback on the one route, he'd walk his route—and the one who got there first would decide where the road would be. He got to Redwood City first—on foot! So now the road is on the route my father walked."

WEST MENLO HOME

Mrs. Burke and the Nealons make their home in a charming little house in the west Menlo park area in what was part of the Clunie estate, which in turn was a part of the original Oliver and McGlynn ranch. Across the lane in another picturesquely pretty home lives her niece, Mrs. Clifford A. Mundt and her family.

The Nealon family is bound into the life and times of Menlo Park through James J. Nealon woh was honored when his name was given to one of our town's parks.

Miss Gale declared that she was thrilled to receive the cane, adding that it is the most interesting item she has yet received.

Radar Pioneer:

Sigurd Varian of Menlo Park Named 'Alumnus of Year' by Cal Poly

SAN LUIS OBISPO (Special)—Sigurd Varian of 24 Aliso way, Menlo Park who with his brother, Russell, invented the Klystron ray, the basis of radar, will receive the California State Polytechnic college "Alumnus of the Year" award, college president Julian A. McPhee announced this week.

Raised at the town of Halcyon not far from San Luis Obispo, Varian studied at Cal Poly in 1920-21 and re-entered for a short time in 1929.

Offered this year for the first time, the honor will be presented at opening ceremonies of Cal Poly's 22nd annual Poly Royal, April 30 to May 1. Varian and his wife will be guests of honor at the "country fair on a college campus."

In announcing the selection, McPhee said that Varian will represent all alumni at the student-planned open house.

Varian stimulated his interest in science while flying aircraft in World War I and later became a Pan American Airways pilot. He recognized a need for a device to increase the safety of blind flying and to warn of the approach of enemy aircraft.

Following degree study at Stanfor university the brothers worked side-by-side doing research on their newly founded project. In the university laboratories and at their family home in a small laboratory they eventually developed the Klystron ray.

Peter Kraft Gets Commission

A total of 770 newly commissioned officers were graduated at the ceremony; Rear Admiral Charles B. Momsen, USN, commandant of the First naval district, presented the commissions and was principal speaker at the ceremony.

Hearing Is Set On Rezoning Plan

A May 3 public hearing was set by Menlo Park planners Monday night for the request of Steve Barath et al to rezone properties on Gilbert avenue, east of Willow road.

The rezoning, if passed, would change the present R-1-U (residential first class) to R-4-A, garden apartments.

REVIEWS DEVELOPMENT OF BUSINESS OFFICES

At the semi-monthly meeting of the Menlo-Atherton Junior Chamber of Commerce held Tuesday night at Scotty Campbell's, Dave Jones, branch sales manager of the International Business Machines Corporation in San Jose, was the guest speaker. His talk traced the history of the office as a function from the days of handwritten records to the present time and gave a picture of the completely automatic office of the future.

Besides Interest in Civic Issues:

Elections, Installations, Carnivals, Meetings Enliven Spring Scene for P-TA's of Area

Looking back, March was a terrifically busy month for area P-TA's—not only were there the annual elections, but for Menlo Park Elementary School district parent-teacher associations there has been the knotty permissive tax rate topic.

The latter is better suited, perhaps, to the general news section of the Recorder—as for the elections, as well as meetings this week, here is some data:

Menlo Central P-TA

Members of Menlo Central P-TA will gather Monday at 12:30 p. m. for luncheon and installation of officers at Betty and Lee's restaurant (formerly Ferranti's). There will be two guests for the occasion, Kay Hillyard, foods editor for Sunset magazine, and Mrs. L. E. Engelmann of 17th district CCPT, who will serve as installing officer.

From the 17th district came word on Tuesday that although Central school pupils are now having classes at Encinal, as long as the Central principal has authority over his student body, the P-TA can continue to exist as an entity.

Heading the Menlo Central group again will be Mrs. Leonard Evans, assisted by Mrs. Hyrum Crofts, vice president; Mrs. Jack Davis, recording secretary; Mrs. Hugh Stocker, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Richard De Vivo, treasurer; Mrs. John Gardiner, historian and Principal Ennio Cilolli, auditor.

Encinal P-TA

Paul B. Jensen of Menlo Park, coroner for San Mateo county, will speak on the vital subject of "narcotics" at today's 2:30 p. m. meeting of Encinal P-TA. Jensen, who has been with the sheriff's office for 11 years and has attended narcotics school, will bring with him a display of relevant materials.

In announcing today's program, P-TA President Mrs. Otto Lang notes that "If parents could be brought to realize that the best protection they can offer their children against narcotics is in gaining a clear knowledge of the subject, particularly with reference t o early symptoms of the use of narcotics, our children would run much less risk than they do of suffering narcotic addiction and all the tragedy and degradation which inevitably accompany it . . ."

The third grade classes of Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Thurston will play flutes and sing later in the program.

Officers for the coming year were elected at the P-TA's March meeting. They are:

Mrs. George Keller, president; Mrs. J. Davenport, vice president; Mrs. A. T. Cook, recording secretary; Mrs. J. Allen, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Clay Miller, treasurer; Mrs. Otto Lang, parliamentarian.

Mrs. H. Drescher, auditor; Mrs. W. Dickman, historian; Mrs. I. Boyington, program director and Mrs. E. Darling, room representative coordinator; Mrs. L. Adams, Mrs. W. Marshal, Mrs. Niel Horan and Ina Porter comprise the nominating committee.

Hillview P-TA

The nomination committee for Hillview P-TA will present their slate of new officers at tonight's meeting scheduled for 8 p. m. at the school. Mrs. Samuel Brown, acting president, is in charge of the program.

L. W. Lane Jr., sales manager and director of Sunset publications, will be guest speaker for the evening. Lane's topic will concern "growth and education of children in the home rather than in the school." A question and answer period will follow.

Oak Knoll P-TA

Oak Knoll P-TA has set its installation of officers, elected last month, for some time in May.

Mrs. Robert Fenn will serve as 1954-55 president, assisted by Mrs. Anthony Donofrio, vice president; Mrs. Leonard Gross, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James Mullen, recording secretary.

Mrs. George Bryson, treasurer; Mrs. Norman McFadden, parliamentarian; Mrs. Roy Sexton, historian and Miss Doyle, second grade teacher, auditor.

In place of the regular April meeting, the P-TA will hold open house April 26 to May 1 at the school.

Las Lomitas P-TA

Together with election of officers last month, Las Lomitas P-TA presented their life membership award to Mrs. Willard Johnston, who has been active with the parent-teacher group for several years and who, for the past two years, has headed the P-TA's carnival.

The annual fundraiser is coming up again, this year on May 1.

Elected to serve with John Worsley, the new president, were Mrs. Roy Hills, first vice president; Principal Viggo Rasmussen, second vice president; Mrs. William E. Weeks, recording secretary.

Mrs. Ruth Frasier, corresponding secretary; Wilbur Newlove, treasurer; Norman S. Angell, auditor and Mrs. Glenn C. Nettell, historian.

The P-TA will hold its April meeting at 8 p. m. tonight, and will hear a member of the Palo Alto library staff discuss children's books. The recently formed Ladera P-TA will also meet with Las Lomitas, and will continue to do so until the end of the calendar year.

Willow P-TA

New Willow P-TA officers were both elected and installed last month—the April meeting being cancelled because of Public Schools Week.

Mrs. Milton Ellis was chosen president, with Mrs. Vince Merkhofer, first vice president; Principal James Kurtz, second vice president; Mrs. Harold Johnson, recording secretary; Mrs. William Sanford, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Noble, treasurer; Mrs. Fielding McDearmon, auditor; Mrs. J. B. Ystrom, historian and Mrs. Lloyd Hillman, parliamentarian.

One of the most important things in the mill for Willow P-TA is the annual fundraising carnival, which will be presented May 22 under the general chairmanship of Mrs. J. V. Hutchison and Mrs. Philip Eldredge.

Plans are currently under way for the event, with booths already assigned and doll clothes, furniture, aprons and the like being made by the members.

Selby Lane P-TA

At Selby Lane P-TA's installation meeting Tuesday night, Atherton Police Chief Leroy Hubbard spoke on "Protecting our children." He covered all phases of safety including water, traffic and fire, and also outlined a typical pattern of children's first contact, as offenders, with the police.

Mrs. Ben Baker, assisted by Mrs. Harry Graham, installed the following new officers:

Mrs. Robert Lippi, president; Mrs. Willard Dixon, first vice president; Mrs. James Heter, second vice president; Mrs. Harry Graham, second vice president; Mrs. Thomas Kennedy, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Leland Doan, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Aronstam, auditor; John Goldsmith, historian and Mrs. Robert Sweet, parliamentarian.

Five Local Swimmers Win at Weekend Meet; Pat Mehaney Slated To Enter National Match

Several girls from the Menlo-Atherton area, entrants for the Santa Clara Swim club last weekend, turned up winners in the Pacific association, AAU, senior and age group meet held at San Leandro.

Pat Mehaney took a first in the 100 yard backstroke and a third in the 200 yard backstroke for senior women.

For 12 and under, Mary Mehaney came in second and Sue Lampman, third, in the 50 yard backstroke. Mary Mehaney was first, while Sue Lampman tied for fifth in the 50 yard freestyle—Mary, incidentally, set a new P. A. record in this race. The two girls, Mary and Sue, also took first place honors as participants in the 200 yard medley relay, Santa Clara "A" team.

In the 10 and under division the Santa Clara "A" team came in third in the 100 yard medley relay — on this team were Pam Whitehead and Ann Warner. Ann also took a fourth in the 25 yard freestyle.

Pat Mehaney will leave Monday to compete in the Senior women's National indoor championship meet at Daytona Beach, April 15, 16 and 17

Thumbnail Sketches on Homes Scheduled for April 28 Tour

Thumbnail sketches of the homes to be toured April 28, under the auspices of the Notre Dame music association, were released this week.

First home listed on the 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. route is that of the Lrving E. Kestersons. Located on Selby lane, the Kesterson's French Provincial residence is set among graceful trees, colorful flower beds and a blanket of close-cropped lawn.

The interior carries out the theme of French decor, with concealed lighting around the frames of rare paintings and glassed-in cabinets holding a wealth of rare art objects.

CAMPODONICO HOME

Another Atherton home to be opened is that of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Campodonico Jr. This dwelling, built along Colonial lines, is surrounded by spacious lawns—indoors, too, the same spaciousness may be found in the large rooms, a handsome circular staircase and a Colonial dining room which overlooks a portion of the garden.

On Park lane, the Charles Maestri home—still another on the tour—is reminiscent of the tropics. Bedrooms and living room enclose three sides of a central lanai, the latter "dressed up" with rattan furnishings and a large floor planter. A swimming pool and bright gardens complete the outdoor picture.

In Woodside, the home of the Ralph K. Davies will be viewed by those on tour.

A contemporary residence with modern furnishings, the Davies' home features an interesting living room fireplace of stone, with stone repeated on the exterior. The landscaping was designed by Thomas Church, and is unusual for its terraced lawns.

RALSTON HALL

Final stopping place for April 28 "tourists" is Ralston hall on the Notre Dame campus in Belmont. The hall was built in 1868 by William Ralston, who made his fortune in the silver mines of Nevada. This is said to be the only large mansion in the vicinity which has been kept in its original style.

Floors throughout Ralston hall are hand-laid with square-headed nails capped by wooden pegs. The original chandeliers are hand polished crystal and all metal in the house is silver-plated.

Among the other characteristics found there are the gallery with its old-fashioned opera boxes; the famous staircase with silver-plated railing and the hand carved picture frames with mirrors arranged to give an effect of space.

Anyone interested in participating in the house tour may make their reservations with Mrs. Joseph I. Rice, DA 5-4874.

MENLO - ATHERTON unit of AWVS will meet at 1 p. m. Monday with Mrs. Martin Franklin, 1145 San Mateo drive. The speaker will be Mrs. Kay Strohecker, projects chairman for Little House.

GERENE DECKER

FIRST RAVENSWOOD elementary school graduate to be a president of the Ravenswood P-TA is Gerene (Mrs. Russell) Decker, who was installed last night at Ravenswood school for the 1954-55 term. Mrs. Charles Grover, 17th District, CCPT corresponding secretary and former Ravenswood P-TA president, was installing officer.

RAVENSWOOD LEADERS CLUB for the Girl Scouts will meet at 1:30 p. m. today at the Ravenswood social center.

Three Noted Peninsulans To Judge at Tri Delt Show

Three well-known peninsula women will act as judges for the home-hospitality show being presented April 29 and 30 by the Palo Alto alliance of Delta Delta Delta.

The trio who will award ribbons to the most outstanding and attractive table settings include Mrs. Kay Hillyard, head of Sunset magazine's home economics department; Miss Eleanor Cogswell, editor of the Palo Alto Times and Mrs. Ernest P. Hunt, instructor and lecturer on flower arrangements.

More than 20 leading peninsula and San Francisco stores, as well as a number of organizations and individuals, have signed up to enter table settings and displays ranging from wedding receptions and formal dinners to barbeques, brunches and children's tables.

In line with the theme of the show, "Party-giving for peninsula living," emphasis will be placed on hospitality hints and entertaining suggestions for every possible occasion.

Since the hours of the event—1 p.m. to 9 p.m. both days—permit the entire family to attend, displays will be arranged to interest the host as well as the hostess. To several lucky guests will go items, also in keeping with the theme, donated by various peninsula merchants.

Admission price to the show will benefit the Tri Delts' local scholarship fund. Tickets may be purchased at the door or may be reserved by calling Mrs. John De Long at WH 8-6114.

Local organizations wishing to participate as a group may contact Mrs. Charles Burkett, DA 3-6650, for entry forms and complete information, while individuals wanting to enter table settings are asked to call Mrs. Jerry Skerry-Kay, WH 8-2489.

Because of the limited area in the Palo Alto women's clubhouse (site for the show), entries can only be accepted as long as space is available. The individual and group displays will be judged separately from those done by professionals.

Mrs. Carl Brune Jr. of Menlo Park, overall chairman for the fundraiser, has recently named additional chairmen to assist her. Mrs. Neal Huston will serve as coordinator; Mrs. Burkett, group entries; Mrs. E. L. Garthwaite, hostesses and Mrs. George Cilker, posters.

Last Play:

HANSEL & GRETEL

The beloved children's classic, "Hansel and Gretel," is the last play to be presented in the 1953-54 Peninsula Children's theater association series.

The production will be given by the San Jose State Players under the direction of John Kerr, with Sequoia high school auditorium as the setting for two south county performances, at 10:30 a. m. and at 2 p. m. on Saturday, April 17.

Tickets for the play may be reserved by calling either Mrs. James Mack at DA 2-1810 or Mrs. J. T. Smith at LY 3-1671.

Unincorporated Area Has Corps Of ACS Workers

'VACATION CARAVAN' PLANNED NEXT WEEK FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Menlo Park schools close tomorrow for their annual answer to Spring Fever, a week of vacation.

With this in mind, "Vacation Caravan," a week of activity for young people, has been scheduled from April 10 through April 16 by the peninsula Jewish community center. Arrangements to attend one or all functions may be made by calling DI 3-9778.

The center, an agency of the United Crusade, invites all interested young folk to participate in the activities, which include:

A group audience to the 10 a.m. performance of "Hansel and Gretel" Saturday at Burlingame high school, followed by a weiner roast and sports in Washington park. On Sunday, a 1 p.m. skating party to Sutro's has been planned, with transportation provided from the center in Burlingame.

Tuesday's schedule includes a 2 p.m. motion picture show, complete with free popcorn and prizes. On Wednesday there'll be roller skating at 2:30 p.m. and on Thursday at 10:30 a.m. participants will gather at the SP depot in Burlingame for a bay trip to Oakland.

Climaxing the week's activities will be a 1 p.m. swimming party on Friday, the 16th, at the pool on 215 Baldwin street, San Mateo.

DR. AND MRS. Cedric Lussier have just moved into their new Menlo Park home.

VISITS IN CAPITAL

Kenneth Smith of Menlo Park was a recent visitor at the Washington offices of Congressman J. Arthur Younger, the representative reports in his "newsletter from Washington."

At Tuesday Founders' Day Meeting:

Mrs. George Ackerman is destined to wield the gavel of the Menlo Park Women's club once again, this time for the 1954-55 term.

Mrs. Ackerman and her new corps of officers were elected Tuesday afternoon, when the club had its Founders Day luncheon at the Pioneer hotel in Woodside. The date marked the thirtieth anniversary of the organization, which, in 1924, was known as the Menlo Park Study club.

Women who will serve with their president for the coming year are:

Tuesday's luncheon not only marked the club anniversary, but served to honor past presidents. Guests at the affair were treated to an afternoon of music following the business session.

Among Other AAUW Activities:

Legislator To Speak Tuesday At General Branch Meeting

When members of the Menlo-Atherton branch, American association of University women, gather for their general meeting Tuesday, they will learn something about "The current scene in Sacramento" as viewed by Assemblyman Caspar W. Weinberger, 21st district, San Francisco.

Although only a freshman legislator, Weinberger already has to his credit chairmanship of the subcommittee which investigated state liquor control and chairmanship of the assembly committee on government organization.

Husbands and friends of AAUW members are invited to hear Weinberger's pertinent discussion, which is scheduled for 8 p.m, at Oak Knoll school.

Also on the state scene . . . AAUW members from all Bay Area branches will meet next Thursday, April 15, at the Stanford Women's clubhouse. There, they will hear of the new work in conservation being organized by the state AAUW, and what branches and members can do and learn about it.

Reservations for the program, which includes no-host luncheon at 12:30 p.m., must be made by Saturday with Mrs. Robert Connell, branch president, DA 2-6304.

For the branch social studies committee, an interesting field trip to Agnews State hospital has been planned for 10:30 a.m. Saturday. All branch members are invited to join the group.

And for members of the branch international relations section, there is a topical conference on Saturday, co-sponsored by the San Mateo League of Women Voters and the Peninsula UNESCO committee.

With headquarters from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at San Mateo junior college Coyote Point campus, the conclave will be keynoted by Dr. Robert Haddow, British consul general in San Francisco. Those interested in attending are urged to call Mrs. Connell.

Mrs. Lee Gunn Destined To Be "Easter Bunny"

Mrs. Lee Gunn of Menlo Park will assume the role of Easter Bunny next Saturday, April 17, when the Stanford club holds its annual Easter party for children of alumni.

The event will take place on the old polo grounds of Stanford campus come sun or in the pavillion if the weather is rainy. Mrs. John B. Rutherford, one of the party committee members assisting Mrs. Charles P. Nines and Charles Burkett, has announced that several surprises are in store for the older children participating — a special section has been planned for the youngest partygoers.

Among the others on the planning committee for the "hunt" are Mrs. Burkett, Mr. and Mrs. Junius Cary, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tuffli, Mrs. Jack Holwerda, Mrs. John Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. Howard McCully and Mrs. Walter W. Selover.

All children of local alumni club members are invited to attend, and reservations, which are necessary, may be had by calling Mrs. Nines at DA 3-1715.

Gnocchis and Noodles from Expert

By MAGGIE MOORE

Tired of the same spaghetti noodles as a foundation for your favorite Italian meat sauce? Feel ambitious and want to learn a new cooking skill? Then turn to Mrs. Fred Paletti, 1317 Laurel street, as we did.

Like other families with an Italian heritage of good cooking behind them, Mrs. Paletti has endowed at least three local young matrons with her wonderful art—and we predict that more will follow her methods.

Mrs. Paletti has already passed on her recipes and her cooking arts to her neices, Mrs. Florence Gilmore, Mrs. Thomas Paganini and Mrs. John Fischer.

As is in most families, recipes and methods are used often and are passed on by example rather than by written instructions. That is the way it happens with the recipes for gnocchis, little potato balls, and for egg noodles.

GNOOCHIS

The amounts given in this recipe for gnocchis will add up to a meal for from four to six persons when served with a tossed green salad, dessert and coffee.

Prepare, boil and mash six large potatoes and cool. Add about three cups of flour, two tablespoons of butter, two tablespoons of salt and one medium egg.

Knead these ingredients together with a light touch, "as if you were making pie dough." This kneading should be done about 25 to 30 times—the cook can judge.

ROLL AND CUT

Using a large floured board, take pieces of the dough and roll cut "like a sausage" until they are about one-half to a full inch in diameter. Cut into inch long pieces and drop into boiling water for about eight minutes.

If you want to take the time to "dress them up," you may press each little ball with a fork. Actually, once you get it—and serve these more than once—the gnocchis from start to finish don't take any more than an hour to prepare. You spend that much time on most other meals.

The egg noodles do take more time and effort—but once you try them, you'll agree that their freshness makes it worth the trouble. Again, the amounts are "very approximate," but as the noodles keep for a week or 10 days in a dry place, it doesn't matter if you make a few extra. Roughly, this amount will serve for four people.

WORKABLE DOUGH

Mix three cupfuls of flour with two small eggs and just enough lukewarm water to make the dough workable. Knead it very lightly for from 8 to 10 minutes, work into a ball and then allow to stand on the board for about 10 minutes.

Uncover and roll out very thin on a floured board using a large rolling pin. The sheet of dough will have to be folded over at the edges to keep in on the table. When it is all rolled out it should be placed on a clean sheet on the top of a bed in a warm room to dry. See—it is some trouble!)

After the sheet of noodle dough has dried out it should be rolled up loosely, "like a jelly roll," and then sliced to whichever thickness is preferred. For soup, you'd want the noodles broad; for Italian sauce, you'd want them thinner.

At our house, we've tried them boiled and then tossed with either butter or olive oil (use sparingly), garlic to taste, and parmesan (or romano) cheese. This is a nice change from the traditional tomato-meat sauce and is especially good whe nyou serve veal scaloppini which is itself rather highly seasoned.

Philathea Circle Meets on Monday

Philathea circle of the Women's association of Menlo Park Presbyterian church will gather Monday evening in the church Fireside room. The Bible study class at 7:30 p. m. will precede the business meeting at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Harold Wild, guest speaker, will discuss "We would see Jesus through religious art."

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. D. J. Kazakes and Mrs. Bessie Kares. All members are especially urged to attend this meeting and chairmen are requested to bring their reports.

'Hobby Night' For Portola

"Hobbies" will be the theme for tonight's meeting of Portola P-TA, according to Warren Hayward, sixth grade teacher who is acting as program chairman.

All adult Portola residents are invited to display their hobbies—children's hobbies will be shown by the pupils from their class work, Girl Scout, Brownie and Cub troops, as well as home activities.

Also on the program will be the first showing of ceramics made by the adult ceramics class.

JAMES FLOOD CLASS BUYS NEW CLOCK FOR SCHOOL OFFICE

Using nearly all the profits from their newspaper, "Flood Facts," the students in Miss Patricia Groom's sixth grade class at James Flood recently bought a beautiful clock for the office at their school.

The sixth graders decided it was much more fitting that they should spend their $15 on the school, rather than on themselves or their classroom. The money came from the newspaper subscription drive held at the first of the year. Subscriptions to the weekly publication were sold for 25 cents (each issue costs two cents).

News of the Flood-ites purchase came in the form of a memo from James Flood Principal Philip Smith to Stanley O. Schnepple, superintendent of the Ravenswood Elementary School District.

New Junior League Officers Installed

New officers for the Palo Alto unit of the Junior League of San Francisco Inc., were officially seated yesterday at the unit's annual meeting, this year held at Mrs. Richard C. Johnston Jr.'s Lindenwood home.

Mrs. Harold Barnard of Menlo Park is chairman for the coming term, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Sayre of Palo Alto, vice-chairman; Mrs. William Roth of Menlo Park, secretary and Miss Susan Norris of Atherton, treasurer.

Also on the League unit's agenda were the annual report given by former chairman, Mrs. Robert Fenn of Menlo Park, and discussion of the pro's and con's regarding Menlo Park and Palo Alto bond issues.

JOHN WILSON is planning to leave Friday for a 10 day stay in Acapulco, Mexico.

Distaff Democrats Set April 14 Lunch

A candidates' luncheon scheduled for next Wednesday, April 14, has been arranged by the San Mateo county Democratic women's club, reports Mrs. Oliver Ryder of Menlo Park, president.

Highlight of the 12 noon affair, to be given at Bob's on Broadway, will be a talk by Richard Graves, Democratic candidate for governor. Also to put in an apearance at the lunch will be Dr. Harold Taggart, party Congressional candidate, and Frank Groves, who is running for the assembly on the Democratic ticket.

Invitations have also been extended to other party aspirants in the area.

Anyone interested in attending the luncheon may make reservations by calling Mrs. Paul Cook of Menlo Park at DA 2-4771; Mrs. Stanley Felix of Atherton at DA 5-5763 or Mrs. Trygve Elwick of East Palo Alto at DA 5-1662.

Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Felix, announces Mrs. Ryder, are new members of the clubs' board of directors, thus augmenting the south county representation.

Circus Birthday Party For Stephen Nelson, 4

Young Stephen Nelson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Willis Nelson of Menlo Park, turned four years old on Friday. To celebrate his birthday, Stephen had several friends over to eat ice cream and cake and play outdoor games.

Among those attending were Bettina and Johnnie Buddenbaum, Steven and Nancy Carpol from San Carlos Kenny Rockas from Redwood City, Gregory Killingsworth, Suzanne Hue, Marsha Brill, Michael Lowe and Stephie's little sister, Susan Nelson (who celebrated her first birthday a week before), all of Menlo Park.

Mrs. Nelson had carried out a circus theme for the party, with appropriate decorations on the cake, balloons and animals for all the guests. Three mothers — Mrs. John Buddenbaum, Mrs. Hugh Carpol and Mrs. Bill Rockas — were also on hand for the party.

What's Doing In Menlo Park's 'Teen-Age Set

DA 3-9975 Melinda Percy and Jo Booth DA 3-1909

Menlo aPrk has had two very surprised young men recently! Man, or should we say, young man number 1 is:

Keith Hales, who was given a birthday party, a la surprise, by Louise Haydock. It comprised dinner and dancing, with the dinner called "goofy" by Ann Baker as they "ate out of things like vases, baby bottles, meat mashers —and used funnels, toy pancake turners, and ice pinchers to eat with!"

Different, to say the least . . . present to celebrate senior Keith's birthday were: Louise, Wally Wrathal, Alayne Thurston, Glenn Day, Jeanette Brown, Jim Herman, Ann, Wally Baker, Chloe-Ann Green, Mike Ramsden and Gail Anderson.

Boy, or should we say, young man number 2 is:

Bob Ackerman, who actually did all the work on his own party! Thinking his mother was having a get-together for friends, he spent Saturday afternoon shopping and running around town getting ready for "her party," only to find upon arriving in his rumpus room with some coke that a group of HIS friends were laying wait to surprise him.

"Was I surprised!" he remarked. They did more eating "than anything," according to Bob, roasting hot dogs in the backyard. Guests were:

Sugar Bowl Lodge had as its guests this weekend Bryan Farnsworth and Bob Miller, and Dodge Ridge saw Ordetta and Judy Bechtel and Priscilla Pinto gracefully mountaing the hills. Naturally, sunburn and chapped lips accompanied the fun—but that's part of it, isn't it?

Vacationing in Death Valley this week is Retta Ohran. Angela Bowen returned last week from a few days in beautiful Salt Lake City visiting relatives and Mardy Keyes and Dave Easley journeyed to southern California recently to visit Scripps and Occidental colleges, respectively. These traveling people . . . .

Traveling in the opposite direction this week have been local college students coming home for spring vacation. Beth Mosher and Stew Graham, frosh at Pomona, are taking a rest from studies and visiting friends now. They both say the school is "fabulous".

Hostess of a get-together after a Woodside Village church dance last Saturday was Laurajane Meredith. Eating and talking some more were Joanne Lawrence, Don Sanford, Ham Smith, Dick Meredith, Dolores Wilkie, Ben Zietman, Charlene Sicklesteel and Dick Wickstrom.

Students! If you're looking for a college with plenty of individual attention given to its students, try Deep Springs college, on the California-Nevada border. The student body numbers 15 boys and the faculty, five men!

Doug Paulsen, an area fellow and freshman this year, brought down ¾ of the student body this weekend to a party at Nancy Hanks' home.

According to Jolly Hospers, the boys, who have hardly any female companionship, treated the girls like royalty and said they would always remember the wonderful time they had playing charades, dancing, and eating with MP-Atherton gals. Quite a coompliment.

Girls meeting the "very nice fellows" were Nancy, Jolly, Ann Lundgren, Carole Fogle, Donna Marston, Marilyn Wagner, Marilyn Menzin.

Out of school dances were included in the plans for many M-A students this weekend!

Featuring a Hawaiian theme, the Beachcombers' Ball was held at Menlo school. The girls appropriately came in leis and sarongs, and millions (well, anyway, hundreds) of flowers were flown in from Hawaii to decorate and float in the pool.

With music by the Stardusters, and a Latin American motif, the Boone-Crisofi cotillion began. The guests enjoyed enchiladas for dinner, and a contest was held between hostesses for the most attractive place card. Alice Taylor was the winner, with Merry Davenport taking an honorable mention.

Seen up in the snow, skiing, snowballing and having a grand time, have been Martha Wright, at Squaw Valley and Sugarbowl, Nancy Walsh, Fran Hall, and Carol Firstman, at Dodge Ridge, and Barbara Ferris and Joan Damon.

Students, beware! An epidemic is sweeping M-A! What is it? Only measles, but many kids have had it. There are many varieties: three day, German, and red, and they can keep you bedridden for as long as two weeks. So, at first sight of slightly splotched friend, run, do not walk, to the nearest exit!

Dance Co-op Opens Spring Class Series

The Palo Alto Dance Co-op, which takes in members from all over the deep peninsula, opened its spring series in creative dance on Friday, with openings in the 3:30 p.m. class for 6 to 8 year olds and in the 4:15 p.m. class for 8 to 12 year olds.

All dance classes, including one for adults at 2:15 p.m., meet at the South Palo Alto library. Further information about the cooperative group may be had by calling the membership chairman, Mrs. R. C. Bevertsock of Atherton, at DA 3-2242.

Now in the mill are plans for a festival to be held on Sunday, May 23, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harry A. Metzler at the South P. A. library. Members and friends are invited to attend.

NEW 'VILLAGER'

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Loomis of Stanford Village are the parents of a son born March 31.

Something New:

Baby Shower for Out-of-Towner Given Saturday by Athertonite

What to do for a very close friend when she's out of town and can't attend a shower in her honor was solved Saturday night by Mrs. Russell (Carol) La Telle of Atherton.

Carol sent out invitations to friends of Mrs. Melvin (Lois) Glass, who with her husband, Mel, are now living in Colorado and expecting their first child. Lois' friends were all asked to bring their gifts unwrapped, so the baby things could be passed around and admired (which, after all, is more than half the fun at a shower).

Mrs. Harry Glass acted as proxy for her daughter-in-law by starting the presents on their course from guest to guest. After everyone had viewed the gifts, each guest wrapped the one she brought.

Assisting Carol in arranging the party were her grandmother, Mrs. A. J. McCarthy, her mother, Mrs. Rosalind Hammond, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Burton La-Telle.

Decor for the shower was done in pale yellow, while carrying out the new baby theme was a "herd" of stuffed animals—there was even one (to go to Denver) atop the large, yellow cake.

P. S. If Lois reads this, "hello" from Bobby and Joan.

JEAN DINKELSPIEL AWARDED AN HONOR

Jean Dinkelspiel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Dinkelspiel, 99 De Bell drive, was recently named a Senior Wellesley college Scholar, an honor awarded for high academic achievement at Wellesley.

PARENTS' CLUB

W-A GARDEN CLUB HAS LONG LIST OF PROJECTS

Spring seems not only the season for style shows and rummage sales, major fundraising events of other categories . . . but also the season for conferences.

Going along with this are several members of the Woodside-Atherton Garden club, whose plane left this week for a three-day convention in Portland, Oregon.

Projects which the local garden group, member of the Garden club of America, has endorsed so far include the Garden club of America Redwood grove on Redwood Highway; the Save the Redwood league; Calveras grove; Butano forest, all conservation projects.

In addition, the W-A club has assisted the California Conservation council; has contributed to the Alice Eastwood fund and the Saratoga experimental foundation for nature plants.

On the international scene, Woodside-Atherton members have exchanged students in horticulture on a scholarship basis and have also given scholarships to students and teachers for Audubon camps.

On the local scene, the club has helped with the Huddart park nature trail.

Easter Breakfast

On Easter morning, the junior high department of the Menlo Park Presbyterian church will hold their annual Easter breakfast in Fellowship hall, with teachers as guests.

The department's regular 10:15 a.m. worship service will be cancelled that day, since members are to attend the 9 a.m. service at which the choir will sing.

Stanford Dames Plan Fashion-Accent Meet

With spring on their minds, members of the Stanford Dames have arranged for one of the Dames and a model from a Los Altos dress shop to display the latest seasonal finery at an 8 p.m. meeting tonight.

A representative from the dress shop will be on hand to explain to Stanford Dames and their guests, the faculty wives, what's new in the way of fashions and accessories. The gathering will be held in the lower lounge of Women's clubhouse on campus.

Should members need transportation, call Robin Bowler, DA 3-3941, or Betty Ebersold, DA 5-5805.

Tie for First Place in Monday Bridge Tourney

Winners of Monday afternoon' Menlo-Atherton bridge club tourney were Mrs. Roy Robinette Jr. with Mrs. Irving Randall Jr. and Mrs. Roy Patten with Mrs. Larry Roach, both teams tied for first place.

ver Weekend:

Eight Local Young People To Appear in Arena Show

Eight local young people have entered their names for this weekend's arena show, which will usher in the Grand National Junior Livestock exposition at the Cow Palace.

The entrants from this area include Ann Ramsay, Anne Davis, Lilla Hunter, Carol Ramsay, Joan Ramsay and Bob Hunter, all from Atherton; Janet Fontan and Nan Marshall from Woodside.

The arena show will be given three times—matinee and evening on Saturday and matine on Sunday. Two hundred forty-six horses will compete in all three performances, which comprise 12 horse show classes ranging from Western reined stock through English and hunting seat horsemanship to jumpers and trail horses.

In addition to the horse show classes, there will be a colorful exhibition of Cherokee Indians in tribal rites and dances and the congrel review, a troupe of performing dogs who claim a potpourri ancestry.

From Gayle's File:

Everything--From Hunts to Handiwork--Suggested for Young-Timers' Easter Fetes

Are you suddenly finding yourself attacked by visions of cheerful flop-eared bunnies peering out from behind stacks of colored eggs? Or fluffy chicks in shades of pink, lavender, pale green and yellow?

If you aren't seeing bunnies and chicks and colored eggs, it's probably a certainty that your children are—and being "just about that time," it's only topical to once again refer to Gayle Allinger's party idea file over at the Rec department.

For instance, from one of her books contaninig all kinds and decriptions of children's parties, comes a "soup to nuts" resume of a fete designed for five to seven year olds.

INVITATION

It all starts with the invitation, a double egg cut from heavy paper — the outside is decorated just like a real Easter Egg, while inside go the party particulars. Games which can be played outside if sunny or inside if not, include:

The Easter egg relay: children are divided into two teams, and each participant is given a tablespoon. At the signal, the first player puts his egg in the tablespoon and races for goal (about 10 feet away), he circles it, returns to the starting point and transfers the egg to the spoon of the next player in line.

Youngsters on the team coming in first each get an egg for their Easter basket (all prizes being additions to the candy "loot").

Then, there is Follow the Bunny, played like Follow the Leader, except that the first child hops, jumps, wiggles his nose, looks for cabbages and otherwise acts like a rabbit.

VARIATION

Another variation on an old party theme—redone for Easter—is Pin the Ears on the Bunny. Also needing no explanation is the traditional Easter egg hunt, which can take children from basement to attic or from bush to bush out-of-doors.

If you're in the mood for a "party opener," you can have each child upon arrival sign his name in "magic pencil" to an egg. These eggs, to be dyed any color the owner pleases, can then be placed in a basket which is hidden—variation on the Easter egg hunt would be that no guest can claim a basket unless it has his egg in it.

If you want to make the baskets yourself, suggests one article in Gayle's file, you can do it by covering any container (salt carton, cottage cheese carton, cereal box collected for a few weeks ahead of time) with crepe paper. For the handles, you can use twisted bits of yarn or ribbon—add grass and gay Easter seals.

ACTIVE GAME

On the active party game side is Chicken Hawk. Guests are divided into two groups, the chickens and the hawks. Chickens gather in the middle of a circle formed by the hawks, and henceforth the former try to keep from being tagged by the latter.

If a chicken can squat before a hawk reaches him he's saved—if not, he moves to the circle and becomes a hawk. Winner (last chicken) gets a prize for his basket.

For youngsters who want to create something Easter-ish for themselves, have a hoard of paper bags ready. Ears can be made by cutting down the top of the bags, and separating the two rabbit-identifiers with a piece of string, ribbon, yarn or scotch tape. Children can then paint a face on their bunny, add a ball of cotton in back, and have a reasonable rabbit facsimile.

Then there is collage—pasting Easter forms on heavy construction or butcher paper to represent a "mural." Chicks with flowers, bunnies with eggs, a hat box of eggs . . . can be created from such things as colored paper, tinfoil, rick rack buttons, fur, felt, remnants of material, all aided by crayons, colored pencils and plenty of paste, glue and rubber cement.

For table decor, you can use a large basket full of eggs (which can be taken home by the guests) for a centerpiece, with streamers leading to place favors. The latter might be gumdrop bunnies held together with toothpicks or the eggs which the guests signed when they came.

Other suggestions include an Easter bonnet parade, short Easter playlets, bean bag throwing (with bunny or chick bags), egg coloring contest and Run, Rabbit, Run! (variation on Run, Fox, Run!)

It's Time Again for Sports Car Races Down at Pebble Beach

By PROXY

It's another "that time" again (and it seems that "that times" get closer and closer together as each year passes) . . . this time, it's the annual Pebble Beach sports car races and Concours d'Elegance (automobile fashion show) to be held in the Del Monte lodge area this coming weekend.

The Alfred Ducatos of Atherton (who will drive down their prize-winning red Farrari if the weather's good) and the Launce Gambles of Woodside are planning to attend togetner. The Ducatos, the Gambles and the Harrison Brawners of Burlingame will all be Saturday house guests of Mr. Gamble's sister.

Others who will stay overnight for the festivities include the Winston Churchill Blacks of Atherton, who will be guests of the Taylor Pillsburys', and the T. Adam Mustos of Woodside.

* * * *

The senior Edward J. Derrys' home was the scene Saturday night for a gala family dinner honoring Ed Derry Jr's. birthday.

Young Edward and his wife(the former Ellen Campodonico) were here on Lt. Derry's leave, which served to bridge his transfer from Fort Sill, Oklahoma, to Texas. While at Fort Sill, the Jr. Derrys met many of Edward's Santa Clara college ROTC friends, which brought a taste of home to them.

On Monday, the young couple left for Texas, where they already have an apartment 35 miles from Edward's station.

* * * *

Linda Lerner, daughter of Mrs. Franchon Lerner of Palo Alto formerly of Atherton, will be married Saturday at 4 p.m. to James Stewart Drake. The ceremony will take place at the Episcopal church of St. Matthews in San Mateo, with the reception following at the Benjamin Franklin hotel.

* * * *

Don and Terry McClean have been spending a few days in Carmel, while their son Don holds down the home front. The McCleans' household will be augmented the end of this month, when their daughter, Terry Ann, and her husband, Alan Fisher, arrive with their baby. Alan is to leave shortly for the service.

* * * *

April 17 Show Arranged for Area Children

Tickets to a special Easter show are being distributed to children in the Ravenswood area by Mrs. Ruth Jones and the various P-TA's. The Easter event features a film, "Barbara Goes to College", as well as six cartoons, all to be shown Saturday, April 17, at the Fox theater in Redwood City.

Co-sponsors of the show are the Loyal order of Moose No. 1112 and Women of the Moose, chapter 601 of Redwood City. The 9:30 a. m. showing is, according to the sponsors, "for your child, your neighbor's child or an underprivileged child."

Other lodges, fraternities or groups in the area who wish to obtain a ticket for a child or who wish to help by purchasing additional tickets, may do so by contacting Harold F. Bender, EM 8-5101, of the Loyal order of the Moose, or Mrs. Maxine Roy of Menlo Park at DA 5-2614. Mrs. Roy, representing the Women of the Moose, is chairman

First Child, a Son Born March 21 to George Terhunes Jr.

Happy grandparents in Menlo Park are Mr. and Mrs. George Terhune whose son and daughter-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. George Terhune Jr., (Pat Lengel), became parents of their first child, a 7 pound, 3 ounce baby boy on March 31.

The infant, who was born at Parks air force base hospital, has been named Gary Stephen Terhune. Gary's father is currently stationed with the air force in Germany. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Terhune Sr., the baby has a maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ethel Lengel of Berkeley, and paternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Terhune of Lamar, Missouri.

Another son of the senior Mr. and Mrs. George Terhune, Airman First Class Donald Terhune (stationed in Japan) and his wife (who is now in Tillamook, Oregon) are expecting their first child some time this month.
